Prominent warnings - General Terms and Conditions

We are required to give you prominent warnings of certain matters. We also draw your attention to the following clauses of these General Terms and Conditions.

Registration of investments in our name (see clause 22.3).

In the event that securities are registered or recorded in our name we will keep records to separately identify your securities from our own securities and we will make arrangements so as to safeguard your ownership rights to your securities. However, such securities may not be segregated from our own securities so that in the event of our insolvency, your securities may not be as well protected from claims made on behalf of our general creditors (in comparison to if such securities had been segregated from our own securities).

Use of third parties to hold your investments (see clause 22.4).

Where permitted by the provisions of the Client Assets Order we, and any sub-custodian, may pool your investments with those of other clients and a sub-custodian may also pool your investments with those of its own. Where we do (or a sub-custodian does) this, your individual client entitlements may not be separately identifiable by separate certificates, other physical documents of title or equivalent electronic record, and, therefore, in the event of an irreconcilable shortfall after our insolvency or the insolvency of a sub-custodian, clients whose investments have been pooled may share in that shortfall in proportion to their original share of the assets in the pool. Any entitlements or other benefits arising in respect of pooled assets will be allocated pro rata to each client whose assets are so pooled.

Our responsibility for third parties we control or own (see clause 22.4).

We shall be responsible for anything any nominee controlled by us or by a Citigroup Organisation does or does not do to the same extent as we are liable for anything we do or fail to do. Any limitations in relation to our liability under this Agreement shall apply equally to any nominee controlled by us or by a Citigroup Organisation.

Use of your Information

Your personal information may also become subject to the legal disclosure requirements of other countries (including, but not limited to, disclosure requirements of regulators, tax authorities or courts of other countries), but will continue to be handled by us in accordance with our Consumer Banking Privacy Statement which you can view at citi.com/ipb/europe/privacy

Minimum balances (see clause 6.14)

We may require you to maintain a minimum balance in certain Accounts, and may specify a minimum amount in relation to any other service provided by or through us. Any such requirements will be set out in the Fee Schedule from time to time. Where you are required to maintain a minimum balance, failure to do so will constitute a breach by you of this Agreement and may attract additional fees as set out in the Fee Schedule.

Joint Account Holders are individually responsible to us (see clause 6.6.5).

Each Joint Account Holder will be individually as well as jointly responsible for any amount which may be due to us under this Agreement. This means that we can take action against one or more or all Joint Account Holders, regardless of which Joint Account Holder was responsible for the amount becoming due. We may set off or combine any Joint Account Holder's Debt to us against or with any or all of your Accounts held in the same name(s), whether the Debt was incurred individually or jointly.

Provision of collateral or security on your behalf (see clause 22.6.4).

You authorise us, but we are not obliged, to put up margin security or collateral for borrowing or derivative transactions for you with a counterparty, exchange, clearing house or intermediate broker of our choosing where market practice requires us to do so. Any borrowing from us is governed by the separate Credit Facility Terms and Conditions.

Set-off (see clause 37)

If you fail to pay us any amount you owe us under this Agreement, we may apply any credit balance on any Account you maintain with us in the same name(s) to reduce or repay any money you owe to us. This is called our right of "set off" and we can use it against individual or joint account accounts. We will only ever use this right if the money you owe is immediately repayable or if we need to pay tax on your behalf.

Uncleared Funds (see clause 34.3)

We may credit cash (settlement proceeds and income) to your Cash Account before a corresponding and final receipt of cleared funds under the terms of a transaction. If we do not receive cleared funds in relation to a transaction, we may reverse all or any part of this credit even if this causes you to become overdrawn or further overdrawn where there is insufficient cash available to satisfy the reversal, in which case we will create an unarranged overdraft facility for you.

We will try to contact you if we seek to make a reversal and we will explain if we have had to create or extend an overdraft to do so.

Please note that there are other risk warnings in these General Terms and Conditions (in particular in Section 2) that you should read carefully.

Nothing in these General Terms and Conditions will reduce or exclude your legal rights relating to any of the services or products we offer you.

Prominent warnings - Best Execution Policy

We rely on our Best Execution Policy to ensure we take all sufficient steps to obtain, when executing your orders, the best possible result for you.

A summary of this policy is provided in Section Three of this document, explaining how we approach our obligations.

You should read the summary carefully. If we receive an order from you or execute transactions with or for you we will assume you have consented to the Best Execution Policy.

The Best Execution Policy provides for the possibility that client orders may be executed outside a Trading Venue. However, we may only do this where we have received your express consent (see clause 21.7.2).

In addition, any specific instructions you give to us may prevent us from taking the steps that we have designed and implemented as part of our Best Execution Policy to take all sufficient steps to obtain the best possible result for the execution of those orders in respect of the elements covered by those instructions.

- 6.1.2 an Investment Account (as described in clause 22.1).

6.2 Eligibility

- 6.2.1 You must be 18 or older to open an Account with us, subject to status and the specific conditions of that Account.
- 6.2.2 We are not able to offer our services to residents of certain countries. Please contact your Relationship Manager if you wish to know more about where we provide our services. If you become resident in such a country, we may no longer be able to provide you with our services and we will end this Agreement.

6.3 Organisation Accounts

We may, at our sole discretion, open Accounts for organisations such as companies, charities, partnerships, trusts or unincorporated associations, but this will typically only be where the organisation does not operate for business purposes.

6.4 Accounts not to be used for business purposes

You must not use your Account (whether an individual Account or a Joint Account) for business purposes.

6.5 Internet gambling

Your Accounts must not be used for internet gambling transactions at any internet site.

6.6 Joint Accounts

- 6.6.1 If you open a Joint Account each Joint Account Holder will be able to operate the account on their own unless you tell us otherwise. This means each Joint Account Holder may:
 - 6.6.1.1 give us instructions of any kind;
 - 6.6.1.2 make deposits or withdrawals;
 - 6.6.1.3 receive payments, notices, or demands;
 - 6.6.1.4 appoint third parties to operate the Account;
 - 6.6.1.5 sign any documents or agreements; and
 - 6.6.1.6 act on their own in any other way concerning the Account and this Agreement, and we may rely fully on such individual authority.
- 6.6.2 If you ask us to change the arrangements for the Account from those set out in the Account Application (for example, by changing the signing authorities), we may require this to be formally authorised in writing by all of the Joint Account Holders to confirm this before we make the change.
- 6.6.3 If we suspect that there is a conflict or dispute between Joint Account Holders, we may require instructions from one Joint Account Holder to be confirmed by all other Joint Account Holders. We may also freeze the Account.
- 6.6.4 You agree that we may send statements of account to any Joint Account Holder and that you will regard this as delivery to you.
- 6.6.5 You agree that each Joint Account Holder will be individually as well as jointly responsible for any amount which may be due to us under this Agreement. This means that we can take action against one or more or all Joint Account Holders, regardless of which Joint Account Holder was responsible for the amount becoming due. We may set off or combine any Joint Account Holder's Debt to us against or with any or all of their Accounts held in the same name(s) whether held individually or jointly with someone else, and whether the Debt was incurred individually or jointly. More information about our right of set off is set out in clause 37.

- 6.6.6 If a Joint Account Holder dies or is incapacitated, once we have received acceptable documentation, we may make provision for taxes and pass on his or her rights to the Account to the remaining Joint Account Holder(s). If there is no remaining Account Holder, subject to receipt of grant of probate or letters of administration in Jersey, we will hold any Assets in the Account to the order of the person appearing to us to be the personal representative of the last Account Holder, unless we are told that another person is entitled to the Assets and are satisfied that this is the case.
- 6.7 Death or incapacity
- 6.7.1 If you die or are incapacitated, we will require a death certificate or appropriate notice of incapacity, estate or other tax forms, before accepting instructions from a surviving Joint Account Holder, court or your personal representative. We may request additional documents or further verification depending on the individual circumstances.
- 6.7.2 We will generally require to see a grant of probate or letters of administration issued in Jersey in relation to Jersey Assets if the estate of a deceased Account Holder lies outside Jersey.
- 6.8 Cash Account
- 6.8.1 All funds transfers associated with your Account(s) and the services provided by us to you will normally be processed through your Cash Account.
- 6.8.2 Unless you instruct us otherwise, funds transfers will normally be processed through the Cash Account held in the currency of the transaction (if you have one) or through your Cash Account held in the reference currency you tell us to use.
- 6.9 Interest
- 6.9.1 If we pay you interest on your Cash Account, we will tell you the interest rate that applies to your Cash Account when you open it. This information is also available on our website at www.ipb.citi.com or such other website as is notified to you and through your Relationship Manager. Interest rates are variable and we can change any interest rates applicable to your Cash Account in accordance with clause 46.
- 6.9.2 If you do not wish to receive interest on your Cash Account you may inform us at any time by contacting your Relationship Manager, in which case your Cash Account will be non-interest bearing.
- 6.9.3 Interest payable on the balance of your Cash Account is calculated daily on the daily cleared balance, compounded on a daily basis and credited to your Cash Account on the last Business Day of each calendar month or agreed between you and us. We calculate the daily interest on the basis of a 365 day year for GBP, HKD and RUB interest bearing Accounts, and on a 360 day year basis in the case of Cash Accounts in all other currencies.
- 6.9.4 We calculate interest on a sum deposited by electronic transfer from the day we receive it. Any interest payable on a sum deposited by cheque will be paid into your Cash Account on the day following the day on which the cheque clears (except that in relation to a cheque in Pounds, interest payable will be paid into your Cash Account on the same day on which the cheque clears). We will pay interest (where applicable) on any amount in your Cash Account up to the time it is debited from your account.
- 6.9.5 Interest earned on one Cash Account will be paid into that Cash Account unless you tell us to pay interest on your Cash Account paid into another Account with us as specified by you from time to time.
- 6.9.6 Interest is paid net of Withholding Taxes which we are required to deduct under Applicable Law.
- 6.9.7 If you ask us to divert interest payments from a particular Cash Account to another Cash Account either in your name or another person's name, then we will deduct the applicable rate of tax (if any) relevant to the Cash Account on which the interest arises before the interest is diverted.
- 6.10 Cheques and other payments and correspondents
- 6.10.1 We may reverse transactions in your Cash Account where promissory notes, bills of exchange, cheques or other negotiable instruments previously credited to your Cash Account are returned unpaid for any reason. We do not have to tell you before doing this. This does not affect our right to retain such unpaid notes, bills, cheques or instruments and to exercise any rights we have relating to such instruments
- 6.10.2 We may, use any correspondent bank or sub-agent to process your transactions and will not be responsible for any act or default or negligence by any such correspondent or sub-agent, except to the extent provided by Applicable Law, or where we have failed to exercise reasonable skill, care and diligence in the choice or review of any such correspondent bank or sub-agent.
- 6.10.3 If you withdraw funds credited to your Cash Account that we are later told are uncleared or unavailable so that you become overdrawn (or further overdrawn) or the balance of your Account falls below any minimum balance we require you to maintain, then you must, on demand, pay us an amount equal to the amount of the uncleared or unavailable funds. Any overdraft arising will be regarded as an unarranged overdraft.
- 6.10.4 We may reverse any payment we make to your Cash Account by mistake and can do so without telling you beforehand. We are not responsible to you for any consequences caused by this mistake unless you have suffered some sort of disadvantage as a result and you were not at fault. If you use any funds we credit to your Cash Account by mistake, you are liable to us for the whole amount, including any applicable interest.
- 6.10.5 We may refuse to accept cheques for your Cash Account that are payable to others, even if you have endorsed them.
- 6.11 Deposit and transfer procedures
- 6.11.1 You may make deposits by mail (other than cash) or by transfer from any other bank or branch of Citi.
- 6.11.2 We do not accept cash sent in the mail. If you send cash or any other Bearer Instruments in the mail, you do so at your own risk.
- 6.12 Overdrafts
- 6.12.1 Where you are overdrawn in any event (for whatever reason), the overdraft will be regarded as an unarranged overdraft.
- 6.12.2 The amount of any overdraft and accrued interest will be repayable by you on our demand.
- 6.12.3 If you do not repay the overdraft when we ask you to, we may, acting reasonably, transfer funds from any other one of your Cash Accounts, sell any investment held in any of your Investment Accounts, and convert currency from any of your Cash Accounts for this purpose. We can do this without telling you beforehand and you will be liable for our reasonable costs of taking any of these steps.
- 6.13 Freezing Accounts
- 6.13.1 We may freeze your Account if we know or reasonably believe that:
- 6.13.1.1 your Account is being used for business purposes;
 - 6.13.1.2 there is a dispute over the ownership of the money in your Account;
 - 6.13.1.3 any dispute between Joint Account Holders has arisen;

7.1.8 Direct Debit and Direct Credits will be cleared using Bankers’ Automated Clearing Services (BACS).

7.2 You may only make payments and withdrawals if there is sufficient Available Balance in your Cash Account to cover the transaction. Payments out of your Cash Account are subject to daily limits.

7.3 Money paid into your Cash Account by electronic transfer will be credited to your Cash Account, and start earning interest (if applicable), on the day the funds are received by us, as long as we have all the information we require to identify you as the recipient of the payment.

7.4 Money paid into your Cash Account by cheque will be credited to your Cash Account on the date on which the cheque clears (details on cheque clearance times are set out below in clause 7.5). Any interest (where it applies) will be paid into your Cash Account on the day following the day on which the cheque clears (except that in relation to a sterling cheque, interest (where it applies) may be paid into your Cash Account on the same day on which the cheque clears as described below in clause 7.5).

7.5.1 the funds will be available for you after three whole Business Days; and

7.5.2 the funds are cleared and cannot be reclaimed by us from the fifth Business Day after deposit, except where a cheque is returned unpaid for reasons related to fraud, in which case the amount of the cheque will be deducted from your Cash Account even if this causes you to go overdrawn.

7.6 For foreign currency cheques the clearance time will be longer than for sterling cheques. We will give you details of clearance times for foreign currency cheques on request.

7.7 We may, if requested by the bank of someone trying to make a payment to you that has executed that payment late, credit it to your Cash Account as if we received it on the correct day.

7.8 When you want to make a payment from your account (other than transfers between Cash Accounts held with us, payments by cheque, card payments or cash withdrawals), you must provide us with the information in the table below. It is important that the information you give us is accurate. If you provide us with the wrong details we may not be able to process your payment instruction. We will not be liable for any loss or delay this causes.

7.9 The different payment methods we offer you may have different payment limits and cut-off times. The cut-off time is the time on a Business Day before which an instruction from you to us to make a payment is treated as received by us on that day. If we receive a payment instruction after the cut-off time, we will treat it as received by us on the following Business Day.

7.10 Information about each payment type, including information on cut-off times, execution times and payment limits, for each method of making a payment out of your Cash Account is set out in our Transferring Funds leaflet.

7.11 We may, at our discretion, request you to undertake additional security procedures when you try to make a payment or withdrawal if the amount exceeds any limit that we set for security purposes.

7.12 The time it takes the payment to reach the beneficiary’s bank is called the execution time. Each payment type may have a different execution time. The time at which this begins will depend on whether the payment instruction was received before or after the cut-off time.

7.13 For certain payments you may agree with us that the payment should take place on a specific day, on the last day of a certain period or on the day on which the funds for the payment are at your disposal. We consider these to be “future payments”. In such instances, we receive your instruction on the day you want to make the payment, regardless if you tell us beforehand.

7.14 Your ability to cancel your instructions depends on the type of instruction you give us as set out below:

7.15 Standing orders/Direct Debits

- 7.15.1 You must allow a minimum of 5 Business Days from the date that we receive your instructions to set up a new Direct Debit or standing order from your Cash Account.
- 7.15.2 If you wish to cancel a Direct Debit or standing order you must do so on or before the last Business Day before the date on which the payment was due to be made.
- 7.15.3 If this Agreement ends or the Cash Account is closed, we will cancel any standing orders and Direct Debit instructions on your Account. It is your responsibility to inform the payees. We will not be liable to you or any third party for any losses from cancelling any standing order or Direct Debit in such circumstances.
- 7.15.4 In addition to any other rights you may have under this Agreement to claim a refund of a disputed payment which has been made from your Cash Account, in relation to Direct Debits you may be able to claim refunds under the Direct Debit Guarantee (which is set out on the Direct Debit form).
- 7.15.5 If we are told (for example, by another bank) that a payment has been made into your Cash Account by mistake, we may provide information about the transaction to the paying party's (the sender's) bank if they ask us to enable them to trace the payment. We can also deduct an amount up to the value of the mistaken payment from your Cash Account provided we reasonably believe that the payment has been paid into your Cash Account by mistake. We will give you written notice that we have done this. If you do not agree that the payment has been made into your Cash Account by mistake you must contact us within the time period set out in the notice. If you do not agree to return the payment we may provide the sender's bank with your details if requested so that the sender may contact you directly. If you do not contact us within the time period set out in the notice, we will return the payment to the person who made it. If this means that you do not have available funds for us to make this payment in full, we will deduct an amount equal to the funds that are available to enable us to make a partial return payment. If the payment was received into your Cash Account more than two months before we were told about the mistake we will always seek your specific agreement before we return the payment. We will act reasonably when seeking to return a payment to you in full or in part.

- 7.15.6 If we are late in executing a payment that you instruct us to make you may ask us to contact the recipient's bank and ask them to credit it as if it had been received on the correct day.

8. CITI CARDS AND/OR OTHER PAYMENT INSTRUMENTS

8.1 General

- 8.1.1 We may block, cancel or suspend your right to use a Citi Card or Payment Instrument at any time without liability on reasonable grounds related to:

- 8.1.1.1 the security of your Citi Card or Payment Instrument;
- 8.1.1.2 a suspicion of unauthorised or fraudulent use of your Citi Card, a Payment Instrument or your Cash Account; or
- 8.1.1.3 a significantly increased risk that you may be unable to fulfil your liability to pay any amount you owe under this Agreement;
- 8.1.1.4 your failure to comply with your obligations under this Agreement; or we are required by law to do so. Unless the law prevents us from doing so, we will try to contact you to tell you we are blocking, cancelling or suspending your Citi Card or a Payment Instrument, and the reasons for doing so. Where possible, we will do so before taking such action but in the event that we are unable to do so, we will contact you immediately afterwards. You can also contact us to find out why we have blocked, cancelled or suspended your Citi Card or a Payment Instrument.

- 8.1.2 In all circumstances you may ask us to reinstate use of your Citi Card or other Payment Instrument by contacting us. We shall not be obliged to agree to your request until the reasons for blocking, cancelling or suspending your Citi Card cease to exist. We will confirm this to you in writing at your mailing address you gave us. We will not be liable to you for any loss or damage suffered by you caused by us blocking, cancellation or suspension your Citi Card or Payment Instrument.

- 8.1.3 We may refuse any instruction you give using a Citi Card or a Payment Instrument which does not satisfy all the relevant conditions as set out in this Agreement, including for the reasons set out in clause 33.6.8, or the execution of which would be unlawful or otherwise contravene any Applicable Law, and we shall not be liable to you for any such refusal. We will tell you about the refusal and, if possible, the reasons for it and, where those reasons relate to factual matters, how you may resolve the position, unless giving such notification is prohibited by law.

- 8.2.1 Your Citi Card is issued by Citi International Personal Bank.
- 8.2.2 Your Citi Card may be used in connection with any Cash Account which offers Citi Card functionality, provided your Citi Card has been linked to that Cash Account. You can contact your Relationship Manager for further information on which Cash Accounts may be linked to your Citi Card or to change the Cash Account to which your Citi Card is linked.
- 8.2.3 If you wish to cancel your Citi Card but without ending your Agreement as a whole, you may do so by sending us written notification.

8.3 Joint Accounts

- 8.3.1 Citi Cards cannot be held jointly. For Joint Accounts, a separate Citi Card will be issued to each Account Holder. A maximum of four cards can be issued for each Cash Account. Citi Cards are only available for individual persons and are not available for organisations or their representatives.
- 8.3.2 In the case of a Joint Account, each Account Holder may only ask for the cancellation of their own Citi Card. If you close or

8.4 Using a Citi Card

- 8.4.1 You must keep your Citi Card safe. A Citi Card may only be used by the person to whom it has been issued and must be signed by that person immediately on receipt. A Citi Card is valid only for the period shown on it and you must not use it after the expiry date or after it has been cancelled.
- 8.4.2 Your Citi Debit Card may be used to authorise payments to an authorised merchant or other provider of goods or services ("Merchant") as long as you have sufficient Available Balance to cover the transaction.
- 8.4.3 To manage our own risk we have internal controls, including the right to impose limits when your Citi Debit Card is used to purchase goods and services. In addition Merchants may impose their own limits on when your Citi Debit Card is used to purchase goods and services.

- 8.4.8 You must use your Citi Card in accordance with this Agreement. We may from time to time issue new Citi Cards to replace existing ones. Unless otherwise notified, this Agreement will apply to any replacement cards.

8.4.14 Foreign currency payments and ATM withdrawals

- 8.4.14.1 If you make payments in currencies other than the currency of the Cash Account:
- (a) the amount of the transaction will be converted into GBP using the Card Scheme's exchange rate on the date it processes the transaction. This rate may not be the same as the rate that applied on the date the transaction was made, if the payment is processed by the Card Scheme after that date; and
 - (b) if your Cash Account is in a currency other than GBP, the GBP amount will then be converted by us into the currency of the Cash Account using the "Citi IPB Reference Exchange Rate" applicable at the time. If you do this, the payment will be charged to your Cash Account in the currency you select (and we will only receive details of the amount in that currency). The exchange rates in this case are set by Merchants and ATM operators and not by us.
- 8.4.18 If necessary, any reference needed in order to execute a payment transaction shall be the card number on the Citi Card.
- 8.4.19 You may not interfere with the Citi Card by manipulating the magnetic strip or the chip in the card.

8.7.3.4	the compliance by such third parties with laws and regulations governing disclosure of information to which they are subject.	10.1	If your Citi Card or other Payment Instrument is lost, stolen, misappropriated, or subject to unauthorised use, or you identify any unauthorised or incorrect transactions on your Account, you must notify your Relationship Manager or our call centre on +44 207 500 1445 as soon as possible and without undue delay in order for the Citi Card, Payment Instrument or your Account to be blocked from further use. In such instances you must not continue to use the Citi Card or Payment Instrument.
8.8	Giving instructions using your card	10.2	In the event that you lose your Payment Instrument, or it is stolen or misappropriated, you remain liable for any use of your Payment Instrument until you have notified us. We are not responsible for any claim for unauthorised or incorrectly executed transactions until you do so. However:
8.8.1	In order to use your Citi Card at an ATM, you have to enter your PIN. Operations done through an ATM are, once cleared on the ATM by the user, considered to be irrevocable.	10.2.1	you will only be liable up to a maximum of £35 (or the equivalent in the currency of the account you hold with us), for transactions based on the use of that Payment Instrument that you did not authorise yourself, regardless of how many transactions there are unless:
8.8.2	You agree that we are entitled to regard the use of your Citi Card together with the entering of the PIN as conclusive evidence of consent to an instruction given by you to us to debit your Cash Account with the amount shown on the relevant transaction statement sent by us to you and on the electronic data records held by third parties/us, irrespective of the amount involved.	10.2.1.1	it would not have been reasonably possible for you to discover the loss, theft or misappropriation of your Payment Instrument before those transactions were made; or
8.8.3	When using your Citi Debit Card at a Merchant, the Merchant may ask you to enter your PIN into the PIN pad as authorisation for the transaction. The Merchant may refuse to proceed with a transaction if you refuse to enter your PIN as requested or if you enter your PIN incorrectly. We will not be responsible for the failure of the transaction in such an event.	10.2.1.2	we or one of our agents or employees (or those of our sub-contractors) are responsible for the loss of your Payment Instrument,
8.8.4	Your consent may be requested and given by other means including by insertion of your Citi Debit Card into or placement near to a device operated or maintained by the Merchant, by providing a signature, and by providing certain personal details and the three digit card security number on the back of your Citi Debit Card. You agree that your consent may be given by all such usual means, and may be given after the relevant transaction. Once you have given your consent to the transaction in the required way, you may not withdraw from the payment transaction unless such withdrawal is expressly agreed by us.	10.2.2	in which case you will not be liable for any such amount; and unless you have acted fraudulently, you will not be liable for any transactions on your Payment Instrument or your Cash Account based on the unauthorised use of that Payment Instrument:
8.8.5	We will advise the Merchant if we are prepared to authorise the payment to be made from your Cash Account. We will normally deduct from your Cash Account the amount of a payment from your Citi Debit Card on the first Business Day after we receive the request from the Merchant's bank for the payment to be made. We will make the payment to the Merchant's bank on the same day.	10.2.2.1	we have failed at any time to provide the means for making that notification;
8.8.6	We will not be responsible if a Merchant fails to disclose any surcharge for the use of your Citi Debit Card or, where a currency conversion service is offered at the point of sale or by the Merchant, all charges and the exchange rate to be used for that conversion.	10.2.2.2	the Payment Instrument has been used to make a payment remotely (for example, online or by telephone); or
9.	PROTECTING YOUR ACCOUNT	10.2.2.3	we were required to authenticate you for the relevant transactions(s) in the way required by Applicable Law, but did not.
9.1	You must take reasonable care to ensure that you and anyone else provided with access to your Account keep all Citi Cards and Payment Instruments secure and not allow anyone else to use them.	10.3	It is important that you regularly check your transaction history to ensure any unauthorised or incorrectly executed transactions are identified and notified to us at the earliest possible opportunity.
9.2	We will issue you with your PIN. Your PIN is personal and not transferable. You must make a reasonable attempt to memorise your PIN and must destroy the notification of your PIN as soon as you receive it.	10.4	If you notify us that a payment was not authorised by you, we will refund you the amount of the payment and any fees and/or interest and charges directly incurred on the Cash Account as a result of the payment and interest that would have been earned on the Cash Account had the unauthorised payment not been made.
9.3	You should not tell anyone your PIN or write down or record your PIN or other security information in a way that can be understood by anyone else. If you do write down your PIN, you must make a reasonable attempt to disguise it and you should not keep any record of it with your other Account information.	10.5	We will do this by the end of the next Business Day after we become aware of the unauthorised payment. Before we refund your Cash Account, we are entitled to carry out an investigation if there are reasonable grounds for us to suspect that you have acted fraudulently, or we can show that you've acted deliberately or have been very careless with the personalised security features of your Payment Instrument or your Cash Account.
9.4	You must not allow anyone else to use your Citi Cards, PIN or other security information. You must inform us as soon as possible if you suspect or discover that someone else knows your PIN or other security information.	10.6	Where you dispute a transaction, we may investigate your claim and, unless we are reasonably satisfied that you did authorise the transaction, we will refund the amount of the payment and where applicable restore your Cash Account to the position it would have been in had the disputed transaction not taken place. We will conduct any investigation as quickly as possible and may ask you to reasonably assist in that investigation. If we refund the amount of the payment to you and following an investigation we determine you were not entitled to the refund we will reverse the refund. We will notify
9.5	We will never ask you to disclose your PIN or other security information.
9.6	We may retain a Citi Card when an incorrect PIN has been

	you before we do this.		However certain instructions will only be carried out during our business hours.
10.7	We will not refund you in any circumstances if:	11.6	You instruct us to comply with any instructions given to us through Citi Online and if we are given those instructions by means of your username and password we shall be entitled to assume that those instructions are given by you.
10.7.1	you authorised the transaction;
10.7.2	someone else used your Payment Instrument or your Cash Account with your agreement; or	11.7	You will be responsible for any costs associated with using the internet to access Citi Online. We make no promises with respect to either the speed or the resolution, or access to Citi Online or your ability to gain access to Citi Online from any particular electronic device or location or at any particular time for any particular purpose.
10.7.3	you have acted fraudulently.
10.7.4	you have deliberately or very carelessly failed to keep the personalised security features of your Payment Instrument or your Cash Account safe; or	11.8	Citi Online can only be accessed through browsers with 128 bit encryption capabilities. The use of such levels of encryption may be considered illegal in some jurisdictions. It is your responsibility to ensure that your ability to use the Citi Online is permitted by the law applicable to where you are located when you use Citi Online. We shall not be responsible for any loss or damage suffered by you as a result of not being able to use Citi Online in these jurisdictions.
10.7.5	you failed to tell us the transaction was unauthorised within 13 months of the date on which the transaction occurred or ought to have occurred, unless we have failed to make available information on the transaction as required by Applicable Law.	11.9	We have taken all reasonable steps to ensure that communications passing to and from Citi Online remain confidential and not interfered with. However by using Citi Online you acknowledge that we cannot completely guarantee the privacy or confidentiality of any information passing over the internet or that such information will not be interfered with.
10.8	Where you have acted fraudulently you will be liable for all losses incurred, including any losses we suffer.	11.9	Once you have logged on to Citi Online, you must not at any time leave your computer unattended or allow anyone else to use your computer until you have logged off. You will be responsible for ensuring that you have logged off at the end of each session.
10.9	Examples of where you may have acted deliberately or very carelessly failed to keep the personalised security features of your Citi Card, a Payment Instrument or your Cash Account safe include: (i) if you do not keep your PIN safe; (ii) if you keep your PIN with your Citi Card; or (iii) if you do not tell us quickly once you become aware of any unauthorised use of your Citi Card.	11.10	You must not access Citi Online from any computer connected to a local area network or any public internet access device or access point without making sure that no one else will be able to observe or copy your username, password or other security information.
10.10	You are entitled to a refund of the full amount of any payment transaction authorised by you and initiated by or through a Merchant, provided the following conditions have been met:	11.11	You must never record your password on any software which retains it automatically, for example any 'save password' feature on your internet browser.
10.10.1	the authorisation given to the Merchant did not specify the amount of the transaction at the time the authorisation was given;	11.12	We may suspend Citi Online or any part of it without notice where we consider it reasonably necessary to do so, for example where there is a suspected breach of security or to carry out maintenance. There may also be other instances of planned or unplanned downtime during which Citi Online is not available, and we cannot promise that Citi Online will be in operation at any particular time. We will inform you through our website if Citi Online or any part of it becomes unavailable.
10.10.2	the amount of the transaction exceeded the amount that you could reasonably have expected, taking into account your previous spending pattern, this Agreement and the circumstances of the case; and
10.10.3	you make the request for a refund from us within eight weeks from the transaction date.	11.13	You acknowledge that your Citi Online password, username and other security information are Payment Instruments.
	We reserve the right to request further information as is reasonably necessary to ascertain whether these conditions have been satisfied and to waive any or all of these conditions. You will receive your refund or justification for refusing a refund within 10 Business Days of us receiving your refund request.	12.	NO TAX ADVICE
10.11	If you recover a Citi Card that you have reported as lost or stolen or subject to misuse, you must cut it in half through the magnetic strip and immediately dispose of the pieces sensibly.	12.1	Nothing in this Agreement or in any other communication between you and us or any other Citigroup Organisation constitutes tax advice or advice in relation to your compliance with any laws, regulations or rules.
10.12	If the Citi Card expires, or is reported as lost or stolen or subject to misuse, we may (at our discretion) provide you with a new Citi Card.	12.2	You are solely responsible for acquiring appropriate independent tax advice and legal advice regarding your Account. If you have any questions about your tax position as a result of opening an Account you should contact your independent tax adviser.

		13.	INFORMATION ABOUT PRODUCTS AND OUR INVESTMENT SERVICES

		13.2	Our investment services are generally offered in relation to

- the following Investment Products: equities (e.g., shares), depositary receipts, units in regulated collective investment schemes, fixed income (e.g., corporate bonds and government bonds) and structured products (e.g., structured notes).
- 13.3 Section 2 of this Agreement sets out information regarding these Investment Products along with certain other Investment Products, and risk warnings relating to such products. The purpose of this information is to enable you to understand the nature and risks of the specific types of Investment Products that are being offered.
- You should read Section 2 and in particular the risk warnings it contains carefully.
- 13.4 Unless we tell you otherwise, our investment services involve financial instruments that can be marketed to retail clients like you.
14. YOUR OBLIGATION TO PROVIDE INFORMATION
- 14.1 We may require you to provide us with information relating to yourself, your personal circumstances (including financial situation), investment objectives, risk tolerance and your knowledge and experience in order for us to comply with our obligations under Applicable Law (such as, for example, our obligations in certain circumstances to assess whether a product or service is appropriate or suitable for you).
- 14.2 If you fail to provide us with the information we require from you, or if we believe that the information you have provided is out of date, inaccurate or incomplete, or if we are not entirely satisfied with the information you have provided to us, we may not provide you with investment services under this Agreement.
- 14.3 You are responsible for updating the information which you provide to us in connection with our investment services. In particular, you shall notify us as soon as possible, and in any event within 30 days, if there is a material change in any information you have previously provided to us.
- 14.4 Unless we have been negligent, fraudulent or we deliberately breach this Agreement, we shall have no responsibility to you if any information we hold is or becomes inaccurate or incomplete. If it does, this may affect the quality of the service provided by us.
- 14.5 Where you appoint a third party to act on your behalf in relation to your Account and/or your investments, we will require this individual to provide us with information about their knowledge and experience in order for us to provide investment services in respect of your Account.
15. Joint Accounts
- 15.1 In order for us to be able to provide investment services, we may require each Joint Account Holder to provide us with information relating to his or her personal circumstances (including financial situation), investment objectives, risk tolerance and knowledge and experience.
- 15.2 As part of the Account Application, we will generally ask the Joint Account Holders to confirm between them which Account Holder's financial situation, investment objectives and risk tolerance should be assigned to the Joint Account. This Account Holder will be nominated as "Primary Investor" and our investment advice and recommendations will be made in accordance with the Primary Investor's financial situation, investment objectives and risk tolerance. The Primary Investor's financial situation, investment objectives and risk tolerance may be different from the other Account Holders' and this may impact the types of products and services that the Joint Account may have access to. Joint Account Holders may change the Account Holder that is nominated as the Primary Investor by contacting their Relationship Manager.
- 15.3 To the extent we are only provided with information relating to the Primary Investor's knowledge and experience, the other Joint Account Holders may not be entitled to receive any investment services.
16. TYPES OF INVESTMENT SERVICES AND FEES
- 16.1 The types of products and services we offer you depends on the type of Investment Account relationship you have with us.

- 17.2 In a Trading Account Relationship, we offer Non-Advisory Services only.
- 17.3 The type of relationship we enter into with you depends on the information you provide us with about your personal circumstances and Investment Product category knowledge and experience.
- 17.4 As a responsible provider of financial services we will always establish that you have the appropriate knowledge and experience prior to providing you with either our Advisory Service or our Non-Advisory Service.
18. FEES FOR INVESTMENT SERVICES
- Information about fees payable in relation to Advisory Services, and Non-Advisory Services is set out in clause 27, the Fee Schedule and the Investment Costs and Charges Illustration.
- Which service you choose will determine the charges you will pay to us. Whether you choose to receive our Advisory Services or our Non-Advisory Services, we will tell you at the outset how our charges for the relevant service are calculated so that you are clear what you are paying for and how much it will cost.
19. ADVISORY SERVICES
- 19.1 As part of our Advisory Services we may provide you with one or more of the following services:
- 19.1.1 investment advice;
- 19.1.2 Execution Services for transactions in relation to which you have received investment advice; and any other services related to those services ("Advisory Services").
- 19.2 Investment advice
- 19.2.1 Our investment advice service involves advising you about the merits of a particular transaction. Where we provide you with investment advice we will provide you with restricted advice (as opposed to independent advice), which means that we will advise and make a recommendation to you that is based on, and takes into account, limited types of products, or products from one company or a limited number of companies, and which may have been issued or provided by another entity within the Citigroup Organisation or an entity with close legal or economic links to a Citigroup Organisation.
- 19.2.2 Our advice will not be based on every equivalent product within a given product category.
- 19.2.3 A list of the companies and products we offer our Advisory Services in relation to is available on our website www.ipb.citi.com or such other website as is notified to you.
- 19.2.4 We may provide investment advice at our discretion, when you request it, in relation to a number of Investment Products. You can obtain details of the Investment Products in relation to which we provide our advisory services from your Relationship Manager.
- 19.2.5 Where we, provide you with investment advice in relation to a financial instrument, we will assess the suitability of the investment. This is to enable us to act in your best interests. We will assess the suitability of the investment on the basis of information you provide to us. Accordingly, it is important that you provide accurate, up-to-date and complete information to us. In certain circumstances, for example, where you hold a Joint Account or appoint a power of attorney on your Account, you acknowledge that we may assess the knowledge and experience of the other Account Holder or your attorney as applicable, when assessing the suitability of the investment for you. That other person may have a higher level of knowledge and experience than you. This may result in you holding financial instruments that we consider to be suitable for you but which are not necessarily aligned with your own knowledge and experience. In addition, if we reasonably believe that the third party's level of knowledge and experience is lower than that of the Account Holder (or your attorney, as applicable), or is out of date, inaccurate or incomplete, Citi will not be required to process any transaction authorised by the third party on your behalf in relation to Investment Products under these General Terms and Conditions.		take any tax or legal advice which you consider necessary to make your decision to invest. The entry or exit of a transaction as part of the Non-Advisory Services is entirely your own decision, and is not based upon any advice, personal recommendation, or representation made by us or any other party.

19.2.6	We will not advise you about the merits of a particular transaction if we reasonably believe that, at the time of your order, you are not expecting such advice and are dealing on a non-advisory basis.
19.2.7	In addition, unless otherwise agreed with you, we will not advise you about the merits of selling any of your investments.	20.3	In respect of Non-Advisory Services for clients who hold a Trading Account Relationship with us, we provide you with access to Citi Online solely to allow for the execution of transactions. You must use Citi Online for the purchase of investments, unless otherwise agreed with Citi.
19.2.8	When we provide investment advice to you no fiduciary relationship exists between you and us. A fiduciary relationship arises where one party is placed in a position of trust and confidence in relation to another party and acts on their behalf or in their interests in some respect. As a result, we will not be under any obligation to:	21.	EXECUTION SERVICES
19.2.8.1	provide on-going advice in relation to your investments, on-going periodic portfolio reviews or on-going research services;	21.1	We provide Execution Services for both Advisory Services and Non-Advisory Services
19.2.8.2	bring investment opportunities to your attention or	21.2	Our execution services involve:
19.2.8.3	update the information, research or advice provided, unless we have agreed in writing to maintain your portfolio under continuous review and provide specific recommendations from time to time. (If we do provide an on-going advice service, we may charge you a fee as set out in our Fee Schedule and the Investment Costs and Charges Illustration from time to time.)	21.2.1	buying and/or selling investments for your Account by acting as your agent, on receipt of your instructions, using any market, exchange or facility we consider appropriate, unless you instruct us otherwise; and
19.2.9	Where we provide you with investment advice in relation to a financial instrument we will provide you with a suitability letter (the "Suitability Letter") that includes an outline of the advice given, including how the advice meets your objectives and personal circumstances.	21.2.2	in certain circumstances, buying and/or selling investments for your Account by acting as principal with you (meaning that we will enter into the purchase or sale of investments with you so that we will be the counterparty to the relevant transaction),
19.2.10	This Suitability Letter should be provided to you before the transaction to which the advice reflected in the Suitability Letter relates unless it is concluded using a means of a Distance Communication which prevents the us delivering the Suitability Letter to you, in which case we may provide the Suitability Letter to you immediately after the transaction, where you consent to receiving the Suitability Letter without undue delay after the conclusion of the transaction and you are given the option of delaying the transaction in order to receive the Suitability Letter in advance of the transaction.		(the "Execution Services").
19.2.11	From time to time, we may provide periodic portfolio reviews or research services on an ad hoc basis at your request. We will not provide any ad hoc periodic portfolio reviews and/or research services you may request unless: (a) we are required to do so by law; or (b) we have specifically agreed with you in writing to provide such service.	21.2.3	Unless we inform you in writing otherwise, we will deal as your agent and not as principal with you. This means we will not be buying and selling investments from or to you as your counterparty to your transactions, but will represent you to third parties who will be.
19.2.12	In any event, if we provide you with an Advised Account Relationship, we may:	21.3	We will not be responsible if any transaction is delayed or cannot be effected due to circumstances beyond our control.
19.2.12.1	at our discretion, perform regular or periodic risk-based assessments of transactions or accounts; and	21.4	We may refuse any order received from you or refuse to deliver investments to you or to account to you for the proceeds of sale of investments. Generally, the validity of any order is subject to the receipt of cleared funds from you or any counterparty (as applicable) to any transaction (although we may at our discretion settle your obligations under a transaction in circumstances where you have not provided us with the relevant funds or securities, in which case you must immediately pay us or deliver the investments to us).
19.2.12.2	as a result of these assessments, suggest to you that you should not execute a given transaction.	21.5	Once your order is executed you will be bound by it (subject to any cancellation rights you may have under this Agreement or in relation to the specific investment).
19.2.13	Where we provide information, advice or recommendations on general market conditions (as opposed to investment advice or personal recommendations in relation to a particular investment), we give no representation, warranty or guarantee as to their accuracy or completeness or as to the tax consequences of any transaction. We will not be liable in relation to such information, advice or recommendations on general market conditions except where we have been careless in providing them to you.	21.6	Where we act on your instructions:
19.2.14	Unless we agree otherwise in writing with you:	21.6.1	any cash that we receive for your Account in respect of a transaction shall be a debt that we owe to you until we pay it to you or it is otherwise discharged. We do not owe you any fiduciary duty in relation to such cash;
19.2.14.1	such advice is provided solely to enable you to make your own investment decisions. You will be solely responsible for any investment decisions you make based on information, or guidance provided by us; and	21.6.2	you authorise us to deal for your Account through brokers, dealers, agents, sub-custodians, depositories, exchanges, clearing systems and counterparties in accordance with our normal practice. Any of these persons may be a member of the Citigroup Organisation. We will exercise reasonable care in the selection of such persons; and
19.2.14.2	any guidance from us does not imply any endorsement or guarantee.	21.6.3	we may combine your orders with our own orders and the orders of any Citigroup Organisation or other clients where it is unlikely that combining orders in this way will work overall to the disadvantage of any client whose orders are to be combined. You acknowledge that the effect of aggregation may work to your disadvantage in relation to a particular order (for example, but not limited to, in terms of price or value).
20.	NON-ADVISORY SERVICES	21.7	Best Execution Policy
20.1	Our non-advisory investment services involve Execution Services for non-advised transactions ("Non-Advisory Services").	21.7.1	A summary of our Best Execution Policy is provided in Section Two of this document. We will treat you as having consented to the Best Execution Policy as in effect if we receive an order from you or execute transactions with or for you. In addition, we are unable to execute any of your orders outside a Trading Venue unless we have received your express consent to do so.
20.2	When we provide Non-Advisory Services we will not provide you with any investment advice. Prior to giving us your instructions, you should read all relevant documentation (including but not limited to, for example, prospectuses and offer documents), make any independent enquiries and	21.7.2	If you have any questions about our Best Execution Policy, please speak to your Relationship Manager.

21.7.3	If our Best Execution Policy is amended in any material way for any reason, we will give you advance notice of the amendments before they come into effect.		that the order will expire at close of business on a Business Day that it is given to us, if it is not executed before that point.
21.8	Withdrawal and delivery of securities	21.12.3	In relation to investment instructions, you agree that:
21.8.1	You may withdraw all or part of the investments and other property held in your Account at any time, subject to the provisions of this Agreement.	21.12.3.1	each order you place is based on your own initiative and financial judgement;
21.8.2	Delivery will be made at your expense without undue delay to an agreed location, against your confirmation of receipt. Where necessary, we will transfer any securities into your name or as you may direct.	21.12.3.2	unless we have been careless in providing our services to you, we will not be liable for any risks and/ or losses associated with the orders placed by you, even if you base those orders on information provided by us;
21.8.3	You understand that the liquidation of large portfolios, or liquidation by a number of holders at the same time, may adversely affect the price that can be achieved on sale of the securities or other property, particularly if the liquidity of the relevant market is limited.	21.12.3.3	purchase or sale instructions for securities, foreign exchange or derivatives transactions are subject to all applicable market rules and regulations and Applicable Law; and
21.8.4	You acknowledge that some types of property, by their nature, cannot be transferred except at certain times or are subject to restrictions (e.g. collective investment schemes that only allow liquidations on a periodic basis).	21.12.3.4	if a transaction would result in a fractional share, we will adjust the size of the transaction to bring down the holding to the nearest whole number of shares and pay the difference in cash into your Account.
21.8.5	Where we execute your instructions through third parties, such third parties may impose restrictions on your ability to transfer investments, for example by imposing threshold amounts for the execution of certain investments. Where possible, we will tell you about any such restrictions when you give us your instructions. You agree that we shall have no liability to you where, as a result of such restrictions, we are unable to execute a transaction in accordance with your instructions. Please contact your Relationship Manager if you would like further information about any restrictions on transferring investments.	21.12.4	We will execute orders to sell securities where we hold a corresponding position in those securities for you. If the securities you wish to sell are not held by us for you or the investments have not been received by us or our agents, we may refuse to execute a sale.
21.9	Contractual settlement	21.12.5	We will not execute orders to buy securities unless we hold, or you have arranged for us to hold, the necessary funds in your Account. If there are insufficient funds in your Account, clause 34.1 will apply.
	Where a transaction does not settle on the due date for settlement, we may, in our absolute discretion, provisionally credit and debit the Account on such due date for settlement as if the transaction had settled on that date. We may, however, at any time in our absolute discretion reverse this.	21.12.6	If any security we sell for you is defective or is not delivered in time for reasons beyond our control, we may repurchase it at your expense.
21.10	Net settlement	21.13	It is possible in certain circumstances for you to place certain types of orders, such as, for example:
21.10.1	Where you have two or more investments or other transactions with us, to the extent that they are capable of being offset or netted out against one another, we may perform any netting or offsetting that we consider appropriate, and settle with you for the net balance outstanding.	21.13.1	a "good until date" order. This means that if, for example, you want to buy or sell a particular investment at a price specified by you, you may place your order so that it is open for execution until a particular date specified by you (a maximum period of 90 days), during which time the order may be executed at the specified price, or it may be cancelled by you. If the order is not executed or cancelled by the particular date specified by you, the order will expire and will not be executed;
21.10.2	Any borrowings or other arrangements which give rise to a liability on your part towards us (whether in accordance with Credit Facility Terms and Conditions or otherwise) may be taken into account for this purpose.	21.13.2	a "stop loss" order. This means an order that you place to sell an investment which will be triggered for execution automatically when the price of that investment reaches a specified level. Once the "stop loss" order has been triggered at the specified level, the order will be executed but this may be at a higher level than the price specified in the "stop loss" order; or
21.11	Portfolio valuations	21.13.3	a Limit Order. This means an order that you place to buy or sell a financial instrument at its specified price limit or better and for a specified size. The Limit Order will be triggered for execution when the price of that financial instrument reaches the specified level and the specified size of the order is available. Once the Limit Order has been triggered at the specified level and size, the order will be executed at the same (or better) as the price specified in the Limit Order.
21.11.1	Periodically we will send you statements of the contents and valuation of your portfolio. These will be provided as part of the statement referred to in clause 30.		Further details about the various types of orders that you may place can be obtained from your Relationship Manager.
21.11.2	The valuations in your statements will be based on the Market Value of the securities in question.	21.13.4	It may not always be possible for us to accept a "good until date" order, a "stop loss" order or a Limit Order or any other order with specific restrictions attached if, for example, such an order is not possible on the relevant exchange or market, or any broker or system through whom the order is placed does not or cannot accept such orders. Except as otherwise provided for in this Agreement, we will not be liable to you if market liquidity in respect of a particular investment means that an order is not or cannot be acted on.
21.11.3	Statements will include statements of income or other benefits received for your Account during the relevant period.	21.14	If your limit order is not feasible based on market conditions, we may not place it.
21.11.4	If an investment is shown at a particular value on your statement, this does not necessarily mean that the same amount can be realised if you decide to liquidate that investment. A statement may include investments valued at zero because we cannot obtain a Market Value or a Market Value is not available. This may be because of a suspension of the listing of the securities, default by the issuer or other reasons. The absence of a market price is likely to be indicative of a lack of liquidity.	21.15	Any Limit Order taken from you in respect of an investment in which we act as the counterparty or otherwise as principal will be on the basis that your order will not be executed unless and until we bid for the investment concerned at the same or a higher price than that specified in your order (where the order given by you was to sell) or
21.12	Investment instructions
21.12.1	Please see clause 33.6 in relation to the giving of instructions under this Agreement.
21.12.2	If you do not provide a price limit when you give us investment instructions we will take the order as "at best", meaning that it will be executed at the prevailing market price. If you do not specify an expiry date or time when you give us investment instructions we will treat the order as a day order, meaning we offer it at the same or a lower price than that specified in your order (where the order given by you was to buy) with a view to us purchasing or selling (as the case may be) the investment concerned in the amount of your order.

21.16 Introductions

In providing investment services to you, we may give an introduction or make arrangements with a view to you dealing with an overseas person who is not regulated by the JFSC to carry on investment business in Jersey.

22. CUSTODY SERVICES

22.1 If we hold investments or Assets for you, we will open an investment Account(s) in your name (the “Investment Account”) for you. The Investment Account will be distinct from an account through which you pass routine banking transactions. By merely holding investments or Assets for you, we are not assuming any duty to advise you to buy, sell, hedge or insure them without specific instructions from you which we have agreed to execute.

22.2 You authorise us to:

22.2.1 open and operate such Accounts as may be necessary for us to provide you with custody services;

22.2.2 safe-keep your investments either in our own or our sub-custodian's custody in the UK or in any other country, subject to the laws, regulations and customs of the place where they are kept and also, where relevant, any Applicable Law;

22.2.3 use any person selected by us as a sub-custodian, including other Citigroup Organisations and third parties, (provided such sub-custodian is an approved custodian as defined in the Client Assets Order); and

22.2.4 register or record your investments:

22.2.4.1 in the name of any nominee which may or may not be controlled by any Citigroup Organisation and may or may not be in Jersey (as permitted under Jersey law); or

22.2.4.2 in the name of a sub-custodian, where the investments are subject to the law or market practice of a jurisdiction outside Jersey, and we have taken reasonable steps to determine that it is in your best interests to do so, or that it is not feasible to do otherwise because of the nature of the Applicable Law or market practice; or

22.2.4.3 in our name where the investments are subject to the law or market practice of a jurisdiction outside Jersey, and we have taken reasonable steps to determine that it is in your best interests to do so, or that it is not feasible to do otherwise because of the nature of the Applicable Law or market practice.

22.3 If we register or record securities to separately identify your securities from our own securities and we will make arrangements so as to safeguard your ownership rights to your securities. However, such securities may not be segregated from our own securities so that in the event of our insolvency, your securities may not be as well protected from claims made on behalf of our general creditors (in comparison to if such securities had been segregated from our own securities).

22.4 We shall be responsible for anything a nominee controlled by us or by a Citigroup Organisation does or does not do to the same extent as we are liable for anything we do or fail to do. Any limitations in relation to our liability under this Agreement shall apply equally to any nominee controlled by us or by a Citigroup Organisation.

22.5 Where we have any rights under the above arrangements against the issuer of securities (or, where holding through a sub-custodian, the relevant sub-custodian) in respect of securities held in your Account, we will hold such rights for your benefit.

Whilst we have an obligation under the Client Assets Order to make arrangements so as to safeguard your ownership rights to your securities, where permitted by the provisions of the Client Assets Order we, and any sub-custodian, may pool your investments with those of other clients and a sub-custodian may also pool your investments with those of its own. Where we do (or a sub-custodian does) this, your individual client entitlements may not be separately identifiable by separate certificates, other physical documents of title or equivalent electronic record, and, therefore, in the event of an irreconcilable shortfall after our insolvency or the insolvency of a sub-custodian, clients whose investments have been pooled may share in that shortfall in proportion to their original share of the assets in the pool. Any entitlements or other benefits arising in respect of pooled assets will be allocated pro rata to each client whose assets are so pooled.

22.6 Where your investments and Assets are held outside Jersey, different settlement, legal and regulatory requirements, and different practices relating to the segregation and separate identification of those investments, may apply.

22.7 You authorise us, but we are not obliged, to:

22.7.1 sign on your behalf and deliver any required endorsements or assignments and guarantee their signature to transfer securities, execute all declarations and affidavits and certify ownership of your securities;

22.7.2 collect interest and dividends and other entitlements (or shares or other benefits in lieu of dividend) from securities held in your Account;

22.7.3 collect entitlements to shares and any other benefits arising from corporate events. Where your investments have been pooled, such entitlements shall be distributed pro rata, according to our records of client investments;

22.7.4 put up margin security or collateral for borrowing or derivative transactions for you with a counterparty, exchange, clearing house or intermediate broker of our choosing where market practice requires us to do so. Any borrowing from us is governed by the separate Credit Facility Terms and Conditions; and/or

22.7.5 credit or debit, as appropriate, your Account for amounts received or paid out in connection with any of the above actions, unless you instruct us otherwise, which we may do by ourselves, by our agents or by our or their nominees.

22.8 Unless otherwise agreed with you, notified to you or we are required by Applicable Law:

22.8.1 we shall have no obligation to forward to you any information regarding corporate actions (whether relating to distributions, voting rights, rights arising under a reorganisation, rights issue or takeover, or other corporate events) or any other information received by us in relation to the Assets held by us or any nominee company by you; and

22.8.2 unless you specifically instruct us to do so on a case by case basis, we shall have no obligation to take up any rights, exercise any conversion or subscription rights, deal with any take over or other offers or capital reorganisations or exercise any voting rights over any securities or other investments.

22.9 In the event that any sub-custodian reverses a payment or allocation of interest or dividends or other entitlement, we shall be entitled to reverse such payment or allocation to the same extent.

23. CLIENT MONEY

23.1 Where we hold money for you or on your behalf as a deposit with ourselves, the Client Assets Order will not apply to this money and we will hold it as banker not as trustee. Where we hold such money but do not hold it as a deposit with ourselves, the Client Assets Order will apply.

23.2 All your money received by us shall be paid into such account (wherever situate) as soon as possible and in any event no later than the next Business Day.

23.3 On instructions from you, we may pass your money to a third party (such as an exchange, intermediate broker, OTC counterparty or clearing house) to hold or control in order to effect a transaction through or with that person or to satisfy the obligation of yours to provide collateral or margin in respect of a transaction.

23.4 We are required to notify you that additional rights and protection granted by the Client Assets Order in respect of your client money held in an account where your client money is pooled with the client money of other clients will not apply in respect of your client money held in an account where your client money is not pooled with client money of other clients.

- 23.5 We shall not pay you interest, nor account to you for profits earned, on client money.
- 23.6 We may hold your money with approved banks in the Citigroup Organisation as identified to you not less than 20 Business Days before we begin to hold client money for you with that bank.
- 23.7 Unless you notify us in writing to the contrary, we may:
- 23.7.1 pass client money on your behalf to an intermediate broker, settlement agent or OTC counterparty located in a jurisdiction outside Jersey; and/or
- 23.7.2 hold client money on your behalf with an approved bank in a client bank account located outside Jersey. The legal and regulatory regime applying to any such bank or person will be different from that of Jersey and in the event of a failure of that bank or person, your money may be treated differently from the treatment which would apply if the money were held with the equivalent of such a bank or person in Jersey. We will not be liable for the solvency, acts or omissions of any third party referred to in this clause.
- 23.7.3 If you have any obligations to us under this Agreement (whether present or future, actual or contingent) which are due and payable, we can, in accordance with the Client Assets Order, cease to treat as client money an amount of the money we hold on your behalf that is equivalent to the amount of those obligations. You agree that we may apply that money in or towards satisfaction of all or part of the obligations you have to us. For the purposes of the Client Assets Order, any such obligations other than fees and commissions become immediately due and payable, without notice or demand by us, when incurred by you or on your behalf.

24. OUR RIGHTS OVER YOUR INVESTMENTS

A Lien is a right which entitles us to hold on to any of your Assets we have in our possession pending payment of a debt owed by you. In addition to any Lien or other rights to which we may be entitled under any Applicable Law, we shall have a general Lien on all your investments or Assets held or controlled by us or our nominees until the satisfaction of all your Debts, liabilities and obligations (whether actual or contingent) owed to us from time to time.

25. INVESTMENT SERVICES PROVIDED TO YOU BY CITIBANK UK LIMITED

- 25.1 In certain circumstances, some of the services described in these General Terms and Conditions may be provided to you by Citibank UK Limited (instead of by Citibank N.A., Jersey Branch) and accordingly your contractual relationship with respect to these services will be with Citibank UK Limited. Where this is the case the addendum to these General Terms and Conditions (the “Addendum”) set out at Part 5, Schedule 2 will apply. If you are unsure whether the Addendum applies to you, please contact your Relationship Manager.

- 25.2 The Addendum will:

- 25.2.1 provide further detail about these services (defined in the Addendum as “Specified Services”);
- 25.2.2 explain the Specified Services to be provided to you by Citibank UK Limited;
- 25.2.3 set out specific information that Citibank UK Limited is required to provide to you under the FCA Rules, when Citibank UK Limited provides you with the Specified Services;
- 25.2.4 form part of these General Terms and Conditions; and
- 25.2.5 prevail in the event that there is any conflict between the Addendum, the General Terms and Conditions and any other part of the Agreement.

- 25.3 These General Terms and Conditions will continue to apply to your relationship with Citibank N.A., Jersey Branch and, where applicable, (as read in accordance with the Addendum) your relationship with Citibank UK Limited.

26. CONFIRMATIONS

- 26.1 In relation to each investment transaction we carry out on your behalf, we will send you a written confirmation as soon as possible and no later than the first Business Day following that execution.

- 26.2 It is your responsibility to review the trade confirmations we send you. You must notify us as soon as possible of any discrepancies and in any event within 48 hours of our sending the relevant trade confirmation to you.
- 26.3 You are not required to acknowledge or confirm the contract note unless you disagree with the transaction described in the contract note.

PART 4: Other Terms and Conditions

This part of these General Terms and Conditions sets out provisions which apply to all the services that we offer under the Agreement.

27. FEES, EXPENSES AND BENEFITS

- 27.1 The Fee Schedule and the Investment Costs and Charges Illustration contain information about fees, charges, commissions and minimum balance requirements.
- 27.2 There may be other Expenses which arise from time to time and are not specified in the Fee Schedule. We will charge these to you at the cost to us and to the extent reasonably possible, we will notify you of these Expenses in advance.
- 27.3 You agree to pay all of the fees, charges, stamp duties, value added taxes, Withholding Taxes and other taxes, legal and valuation fees, and other costs and expenses (“Expenses”) associated with this Agreement and any Account and service we provide for you. You authorise us to deduct Expenses directly from your Cash Account(s).
- 27.4 All interest payable by you shall be payable in full without any deduction for taxes. If you are obliged by law to deduct or withhold any sum from payment to us, you shall increase the amount of the payment so that the net amount received by us shall equal the amount due to us.
- 27.5 Inducements
- 27.5.1 You agree that we may receive remuneration from, or share charges with, other Citigroup Organisations or third parties in connection with transactions carried out on behalf of you, subject always to compliance with Applicable Law. Details of such remuneration or sharing arrangements will be disclosed to you where required by Applicable Law.
- 27.5.2 We may from time to time, where permitted under Applicable Law, give or receive monetary or non-monetary benefits to or from (or share them with) other Citigroup Organisations or third parties in relation to the provision of any service provided to you or investment made under this Agreement, which will be notified to you as required by Applicable Law.
- 27.5.3 Further information on the above arrangements is available from your Relationship Manager.

28. CLIENT CLASSIFICATION

Where we provide you with investment advice, we will treat you as a “retail client” (as defined in the Investment Business Codes of Practice issued by the JFSC) unless we advise you otherwise in writing.

29. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

- 29.1 In the course of our providing services to you under this Agreement, certain actual or potential conflicts of interest may arise. We have established a Conflicts of Interest Policy which sets out the policy which we follow in order to identify and to prevent or manage such conflicts.
- 29.2 By way of example the situations in which conflicts of interest may arise are where we or another Citigroup Organisation are:
- 29.2.1 dealing in a relevant investment, a related investment or an asset underlying an investment, whether as principal for its own account or for a third party;
- 29.2.2 dealing with or using the services of an intermediate broker or other agent who may be another Citigroup Organisation, while selling to or buying from you;
- 29.2.3 matching a transaction for you with a transaction for another client while acting on behalf of both you and the other client;

- 29.2.4 buying from you and immediately selling to another client, or vice-versa;
- 29.2.5 holding a position (including a short position) in the investment concerned, a related investment or the asset underlying the investment;
- 29.2.6 quoting prices to the market in the investment, a related investment or the asset underlying the investment;
- 29.2.7 buying or selling units in a collective investment scheme where we (or another Citigroup Organisation) are the trustee, operator or manager (or an adviser of the trustee, operator or manager) of the scheme;
- 29.2.8 advising on, buying, selling or recommending for your Account securities of companies which have directors or officers who are also directors or officers of Citigroup Organisations or have banking or other relationships with Citigroup Organisations;
- 29.2.9 involved as an underwriter or other capacity in a take-over, new issue or other transaction involving the relevant investment or a related investment;
- 29.2.10 advising and providing other services to Citigroup Organisations or other clients who may have interests in investments or underlying assets which conflicts with your interests;
- 29.3 If you object to our acting on the basis set out in this clause, you should notify our Compliance Officer in writing at the address at the start of this Agreement (see clause 5 of Part 1).
- 29.4 A copy of our Conflicts of Interest Policy summary is included in this document and further details are available on request from your Relationship Manager or on written request to the address at the start of this Agreement (see clause 5 of Part 1).
- 29.5 The summary of our Conflicts of Interest Policy included in this document may be amended from time to time. We will notify you in advance of any material changes to the summary of our Conflicts of Interest Policy.
- 29.6 Where the arrangements under our Conflicts of Interest Policy to prevent or manage a particular conflict are not sufficient to ensure with reasonable confidence that the risk of damage to your interests will be prevented, we will provide you with a specific description of the conflicts of interest and explain the general nature and/or sources of the conflicts of interest, as well as the risks that arise as a result of the conflicts of interest and the steps taken to mitigate those risks. The specific description will be in sufficient detail to enable you to make an informed decision as to whether to proceed.
- 29.7 With the exception of when we are required by Applicable Law, we shall not be obliged to disclose to you, or to take into consideration, any fact, matter or finding which might involve a breach of duty or confidence to any other person, or which comes to the notice of any of our directors, officers, employees or agents but does not come to the actual notice of the individual or individuals dealing with you.
- 29.8 We may also decline to act where we believe there is no other practicable way of ensuring that you and our other clients are treated fairly. In certain cases, we may establish organisational walls to restrict the movement of information within the Citigroup Organisations.
- 30. STATEMENTS
- 30.1 We will provide you with a statement covering all of your Accounts (including your investments, cash, any client money and non-cash assets in our custody) on a monthly basis.
- 30.2 Statements will be provided in one of the following electronic forms if you are enrolled for E-Statements:
- 30.2.1 by a statement to view through Citi Online, in which case we will send you an email to advise you that your statement is ready for you to print or save; or
- 30.2.2 by a password protected PDF statement which will be emailed to you.
- If you are not enrolled for E-Statements we will provide the statement to you in paper form.
- 30.3 It is your responsibility to review your statements and other advices and to notify us promptly of any discrepancies and:
- 30.3.1 if you find that any statement item relating to a payment into or out of your Account is incorrect, you should notify us as soon as possible and, except where your Account was in overdraft at the time of the disputed transaction, in any event within 13 months; and
- 30.3.2 in respect of any other statement items or advice you must send us a written objection within 60 days of us sending the statement or advice to you.
- 30.4 We will provide you with trade confirmations, where applicable, in accordance with clause 26.
- 31. ADDRESS
- 31.1 The address you give on your Account Application must be your main residence and will be the registered address of the Account.
- 31.2 For Joint Accounts where the main residence for each Account Holder differs, we will hold all such addresses as registered addresses.
- 31.3 We will send all postal communications, to the registered address (or if more than one, the registered address selected by us unless you have specified a separate mailing address in your Account Application).
- 32. CHANGES TO YOUR DETAILS
- 32.1 You must inform us promptly of any changes to your personal details, such as your address, telephone number(s) and email address.
- 32.2 You must give us such proof of change of address, telephone number and email address (whether your main residence or specified mailing address) as we may request. We may refuse to implement any change of your address until we receive all the proof required by us.
- 33. NOTICES AND COMMUNICATIONS
- 33.1 We will send notices or other communications to the last registered address, email address or mobile number we have for you, subject to Applicable Law. We may also contact you by push notifications on the Citi Mobile® UK app. If you require notices and other communications to be sent to you in paper form by post, please let us know. Depending on the method used by us, we may consider notices or other communications as having been received by you: (i) five Business Days after posting (mail to within the UK or the European Union); (ii) 10 Business Days after posting (mail to outside the UK or the European Union); or (iii) one Business Day after transmission (SMS or electronic mail). Where appropriate, we may send notices under clause 46 (Amending this Agreement) to you by email.
- 33.2 If we think your Account is at risk from fraud or a security threat, we'll contact you using one of the methods set out in clause 33.1 to tell you what you need to do to help deal with that risk. We may also contact you by telephone or by electronic means such as SMS.
- 33.3 If you wish to appoint someone to receive notices on your behalf (a "Process Agent"), you must specify their details in your Account Application or in a written notice to us. We will then consider communications sent to the Process Agent as having been delivered to you.
- 33.4 All communications between you and us will be in the English language. We may, from time to time and only at your request, communicate with you in another language, but you acknowledge that we are not required to do this. Any communications from us to you in English will be binding on you even if we have communicated with you in another language previously and except where we agree to the contrary in relation to a specific communication, all communications from you to us in writing must be in English.
- 33.5 You have the right at any time during this Agreement to receive upon request on paper a copy of this Agreement and any other contractual terms and conditions and information we are required by law to provide.

33.6	Instructions
33.6.1	You can instruct us to make a payment as set out in clauses 7 and 8 of this Agreement.
33.6.2	You may also instruct us:
33.6.2.1	in writing including by email (although investment instructions cannot be accepted by email)
33.6.2.2	over the telephone; and
33.6.2.3	(in relation to certain types of transactions specified by us) via Citi Online without further authentication or confirmation.
33.6.3	We do not accept instructions via SMS
33.6.4	When providing us with an instruction in writing you must include the relevant Account Number and correctly sign and address your instruction to the address set out at the start of this Agreement (see clause 5 of Part 1), or to any future address we may notify to you.
33.6.5	Unless we tell you otherwise, if you wish to change or cancel an instruction, you must do so in sufficient time to enable us to receive and act upon such request and before we have made arrangements with third parties for processing the original instruction (for example, before funds or securities have been made available or advised to a third party).
33.6.6	You may give us standing instructions. Any standing instruction we receive from you will remain in effect until we receive a written cancellation or replacement instruction (clearly identified as such), signed by you or a person authorised to do so under this Agreement.
33.6.7	If you wish to provide confirmation of a previous instruction, you must clearly mark it "Confirmation of Previous Instruction". If you do not do so, we may regard the confirmation as a new instruction and effect a new transaction.
33.6.8	We reserve the right to reject any instructions, funds transfer orders, payment orders, or requests for changes or cancellations if, we believe they are contrary to, or not clearly permitted by, Applicable Law or other relevant requirements, or you ask us to make a payment to an account that does not accept payments using the payment systems we use for such transactions (for example we can refuse to make a payment to an account in the UK that does not accept payments through CHAPS), or they do not satisfy all the relevant conditions set out in this Agreement. We may reject any such instructions or orders that do not relate to payments, if in our judgement, it is reasonable to do so. We may, for example, refuse to act on an instruction which does not appear to us to comply with the Signing Mandate, or which is unclear or conflicting.
33.6.9	We shall not be liable to you for any such rejection. If we reject a payment instruction we will notify you by making available the fact of the rejection and, if possible, the reasons for the rejection and, where it is possible to provide reasons for the rejection and those reasons relate to factual matters, how you may resolve the position, unless giving such notification is prohibited by law.
33.6.10	Unless we tell you otherwise, where we receive a payment, investment or administration instruction after 5.00 p.m. or on a day that is not a Business Day, it will be treated as if it was received on the next Business Day.
33.6.11	Cut off times for payment instructions are set out in the Transferring Funds leaflet as amended from time to time. Please speak to your Relationship Manager for further details of cut-off times applicable to specific investments.
33.6.12	Please note we will effect instructions involving a foreign element only on days when banks or institutions in the applicable financial markets are open for business in each country concerned.
33.6.13	We will rely on the information provided in your instructions, and you are responsible for any errors or ambiguities in that information which may lead to instructions being rejected or executed incorrectly.
33.6.14	We are not required to acknowledge receipt of your instructions and we may not issue separate notices of incoming funds transfers to your Account.
33.6.15	You understand that data transmitted via email, SMS and/or by way of electronic link is unprotected and that there are risks associated with its use, including the possible interception of the data by unauthorised third parties.
33.6.16	You may appoint any person to give instructions on your behalf. You must identify such a person in the Signing Mandate. We may accept instructions from any person representing themselves to be the persons identified in the Signing Mandate. Any such instructions will be at your risk and you agree that we are not responsible for any losses, including legal fees, which result from our acting on instructions received in this way.
33.6.17	If we reasonably believe that the third party's level of knowledge and experience is lower than that of the Account Holder (or the primary investor in the case of Joint Account Holders) or is out of date, inaccurate or incomplete, Citi will not be required to process any transaction authorised by the third party on your behalf in relation to Investment Products under these General Terms and Conditions. Citi will tell you (or the third party appointed to act on your behalf) if this is the case.
33.6.18	You must comply with the security procedures we tell you about from time to time.
33.7	Delegation
33.7.1	Citi may from time to time, arrange for any of the services contemplated under these General Terms and Conditions to be carried out by a third party. At all times, Citi will do this in compliance with the Applicable Law.
33.7.2	When entering into any agreement or arrangement with a third party, the third party may act as Citi's agent or Citi may enter into such arrangements with the third party such that they become your agent (so that there is a direct relationship between you and the third party service provider). By accepting these General Terms and Conditions you authorise us to enter into such arrangements as your agent.
34.	MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS RELATING TO TRANSACTIONS
34.1	Insufficient funds
34.1.1	Subject to clause 34.3, where you have provided insufficient funds for us to complete any investment or foreign exchange transaction entered into by or for you or to meet any Debt owing by you on your behalf, we may, acting reasonably:
34.1.1.1	refuse to complete the transaction;
34.1.1.2	complete the transaction and recover any associated amounts, fees and charges by debiting any Account you or Joint Account Holders have with us; or
34.1.1.3	complete the transaction and create an overdraft in your Account (such overdraft being regarded as an unarranged overdraft, as described in clause 6.12.3).
34.1.2	You agree that we may continue to follow the steps outlined above if you still have insufficient funds in your Account when subsequent cheques, payment instructions, settlement changes, etc., arrive. You will be fully responsible for any consequences of not keeping adequate funds in your Account.
34.2	Unpaid items
	If an item is returned to us unpaid or there is an operational error, we may reverse entries and correct errors made in any document without prior notice to you. If we do this, we will not be responsible for any direct losses or losses which are an unforeseeable consequence of such action, costs or Expenses which you may suffer as a result, and any resulting liability you have to third parties will be your responsibility.
34.3	Uncleared or unavailable funds
	The statements we send you show value dates on which we expect funds to be available to you. The clearing systems of some countries may cause a different value date or credit date to be used in practice. In addition, the securities settlement conventions in relevant markets which apply to the holding of assets, or settlement of transactions, may result in a delay before proceeds of sale are received for you, or title to a security passes to you.
34.3.1	We may, in our sole discretion credit cash (settlement proceeds and income) to your Cash Account before a corresponding and final receipt of cleared funds under the terms of a transaction. Before final receipt of cleared funds, any credit of cash to your Cash Account may only be used to enter into a transaction on the Exchange on which the transaction giving rise to the credit was executed and for no other purpose.
34.3.2	You agree that, in the event that we do not receive cleared

- funds in relation to a transaction, we may reverse all or any part of a credit of cash to your Cash Account in respect of such transaction and make any appropriate entry to the records including restatement of the Cash Account and reversing any interest paid. We shall give you reasonable notice (where practicable, in advance) of any reversal of cash in accordance with this clause 34.3.3
- 34.3.3 Where we have given you a notice of a reversal of cash and there is insufficient cash to satisfy the reversal, we shall create an overdraft in your Cash Account (such overdraft being regarded as an unarranged overdraft, as described in clause 6.12.3). We shall promptly notify you of any overdraft that we create.
- 34.4 Incorrect Information
- We will make payments based on the information we require you to provide to us as set out in clause 6 and 29.7. If you provide us with incorrect information, we will not be responsible if the payment is not made, is delayed or is made incorrectly and if you ask us, we will make reasonable efforts to recover the funds involved in the payment, although we reserve the right to charge you for the cost of this.
- 34.5 Execution of transactions through third parties
- 34.5.1 We may execute your instructions and transfer funds (where permitted by this Agreement) by any conventional means we consider suitable, including banking channels, electronic or manual funds transfer systems, mail, courier, or telecommunications services, or other methods.
- 34.5.2 We may, without prior notice to you, use the services of any institution, exchange, or correspondent bank in carrying out your instructions. You agree that when this happens we may become bound by the rules and regulations that govern the applicable exchanges and systems for the clearing or wire transfer of payments and they may apply certain charges. You accept that where this happens we will need to comply with such rules and regulations and you therefore agree that you will comply with our reasonable requests to you as may be necessary to enable us to fulfil our obligations to such institution, exchange, or correspondent bank in order to carry out your instructions. Any charges payable in this regard may be payable by you.
- 34.5.3 Unless otherwise specified in this Agreement, we shall not be responsible for anything any third party system, service or person, does or fails to do except to the extent provided by Applicable Law or where we have failed to exercise reasonable skill, care and diligence in the selection, appointment and periodic review of any such third party system, service or person.
- 34.6 Taxes
- 34.6.1 For the avoidance of doubt, all payments made under this Agreement to us or any Citigroup Organisation shall be free and clear of any applicable stamp duties, value added taxes, Withholding Taxes and other taxes. You are solely responsible for paying all such taxes related to your Accounts or arising from the purchase or sale of your property or other investments (by way of example, interest, dividends, and other income and capital gains from your investments may be subject to taxes, including Withholding Taxes). You are also responsible for any stamp or excise taxes or estate taxes associated with your Accounts.
- 34.6.2 In the event that we agree to pay any of these taxes for you or are required to do so by Applicable Law, you agree that we (or any Citigroup Organisation or their third party service providers) may deduct the amount paid directly from your Accounts or amounts owed by us to you. We have no obligation to reclaim for you any excess taxes withheld. We will pay any Withholding Tax to the relevant Authority in a timely manner. We will tell you about any Withholding Tax as soon as reasonably practicable. We will not reimburse you for any amount withheld or deducted by a third party that forms part of the global payment system infrastructure. If your available Assets with us do not cover the liability, you agree to pay such additional amounts to us (or any Citigroup Organisation or our third party service providers, as applicable) at our request so as to receive and retain where necessary (after any deduction or withholding) an amount equal to the payment which would have been due to us (or any Citigroup Organisation or our or their third party service providers, as applicable) if no such deduction or withholding had been required or made.
- 34.6.3 THE LEVEL OF TAX YOU PAY WILL DEPEND ON YOUR INDIVIDUAL FINANCIAL CIRCUMSTANCES AND MAY CHANGE IN FUTURE.
- 34.6.4 IMPORTANT TAX INFORMATION: If you are a US person
- 34.6.5 you must provide us with a valid, signed Form W-9. If you do not provide us with a valid, signed Form W-9 within 30 days following our request to do so, we may terminate this Agreement or close an Account or Investment Product by giving you notice in accordance with clause 41.2.
- 34.7 Foreign exchange
- 34.7.1 You authorise us to conduct any foreign exchange transactions we deem necessary to carry out your instructions, and you agree to assume all risks associated with foreign exchange and currency conversion.
- Other than in relation to transactions where you use your Citi Card (in relation to which see clause 8.4.14), where a payment is made into or out of your Account in a different currency from the currency of your Account, we may convert it using the Citi IPB Reference Exchange Rate we normally apply to such transactions.
- Without prejudice to clause 34.7.2, if we are unable to transmit funds to you in the currency in which they are held, we may remit an equivalent amount in US Dollars at the Citi IPB Reference Exchange Rate on the date of payment.
- 34.7.2 We may conduct foreign exchange transactions for the purposes of this Agreement with or through us or any Citigroup Organisation and we or any relevant Citigroup Organisation may receive or make a fee, commission, profit or turn in connection with the transaction.
35. COMMUNICATIONS WE MAY SEND YOU
- 35.1 You agree that we may provide you with information regarding services or products which we already provide to you, or similar services or products which we consider may be of interest to you, some or all of which we may not previously have discussed with you and about some or all of which you may not previously have been aware. We may also provide you with information regarding other products and services if you elect to receive such information. We may do this using means such as telephone, interactive use of electronic media, email or mail or in a meeting with you, subject to Applicable Law. 41. ENDING THIS AGREEMENT AND CLOSING ACCOUNTS

- 41.1 You can end this Agreement or close an Account at any time by giving us written notice. If you wish to do this, you must send this notice to the address at the start of this Agreement (see clause 5 of Part 1).
- 41.2 Unless we are able to end this Agreement without notice to you, we may end this Agreement, close an Account or particular Investment Product by giving not less than 30 days' written notice to you.
- 41.3 We may end this Agreement in its entirety, or in respect of a service or product in any jurisdiction at any time without notice to you if we reasonably believe that to continue might:
- 41.3.1 cause us (or any Citigroup Organisation) to breach any Applicable Law, regulation, code or other duty which applies to us in any jurisdiction; or
- 41.3.2 result in action or censure from any government, regulator or law enforcement agency for us or any Citigroup Organisation in any jurisdiction.
- 41.4 This Agreement will end automatically in the event that you become resident in a country in which we are not able to provide our services. Please contact your Relationship Manager if you wish to know more about where we provide our services.
- 41.5 You will be responsible for paying all fees, charges, early withdrawal fees and other obligations that remain unpaid at the time the Agreement ends.
- 41.6 Ending of this Agreement shall not affect the completion of any transaction already initiated before the Agreement ends, or the repayment of any Debt already incurred by you to us.
- 41.7 If we have processed a transaction that is likely to extend beyond the date the Agreement comes to an end, we may at our discretion, acting reasonably, close out or complete such transaction and we shall be entitled to retain sufficient funds or Assets for this purpose.
- 41.8 Your Account will not be considered closed until all transactions have been completed and all sums due from you to us have been paid. In addition, you must pay us any sum which becomes due after the Account is closed.
- 41.9 When this Agreement ends or an Account is closed, we will:
- 41.9.1 disable your Citi Card and you will no longer be able to use it (where it is us that gives notice to end this Agreement, we will disable the Citi Card at the same time as we dispatch the notice to you);
- 41.9.2 ask you whether you want us to transfer the securities in your Investment Account to you or to sell them and remit the proceeds of sale to you. If you do not notify us of your preference within 10 Business Days of termination the Agreement coming to an end, we may at our discretion, acting reasonably, sell any such securities and remit the proceeds to you. Any transfers of securities may be at your cost; and
- 41.9.3 either transfer the remaining in-credit balances on your Cash Account to an account specified by you or send a cheque to you for the amount of the remaining in-credit balance. We may not be able to return any remaining in-credit balance to you after closure in certain circumstances (for example, because we have not heard from you for a long time, you have had previous correspondence returned as undelivered at your last known registered address, or where we identified a security concern in sending a draft to your registered address and you did not provide details of an account with an alternative financial institution). If this is the case, we will hold these funds safely until you are able to claim them. You can contact us at any time and we will return any funds due to you at that time (subject to confirming your identity and entitlement to the funds). When we do so we will also pay you an amount at least equal to the amount of interest that you would have continued to earn on your Account as if it had not been closed.

- 41.10 Where this Agreement ends, any loans made to you under Credit Facility Terms and Conditions will become repayable in accordance with those Credit Facility Terms and Conditions.

42. STOPPING AN ON-GOING ADVICE SERVICE

You may stop any on-going advice service (described in clause 19) at any time by giving us notice in writing, and/or selecting an alternative investment service, and/or ending this Agreement in accordance with clause 41. We will notify you if any other fees will continue to be payable for other services provided to you by us.

In

	the case of joint responsibility, we will continue to investigate the part of the complaint that is our responsibility in accordance with the procedure above.	46.5	Changes to any foreign exchange rate that we use that is based on a reference rate (including the Citi IPB Reference Exchange Rate) may be made immediately and without notice to you.
44.	CUSTOMER DUE DILIGENCE	46.6	Changes to any interest rate that we use that is based on a reference rate (meaning a rate which is not set by us and is publicly available so that you can find out what it is) may be made immediately and without notice to you.
	We are required to obtain and maintain sufficient client information to satisfy ourselves as to the identity, nationality, residency, source of funds and source of wealth of all new, existing and re-activated clients. We may therefore require at any time that you complete specific compliance related information and/or formalities prior to the Account being provided. We reserve the right to freeze or close your Account if we are unable to or are prevented from completing satisfactory client due diligence procedures within a reasonable period. We reserve the right to charge additional fees on a time spent basis if we are required to freeze and monitor your Account in default of any of the above requirements.	46.7	We may change interest rates at any time for the following reasons (which may relate to circumstances existing at the time or those that are expected to exist in the near future):
45.	IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT COMPENSATION ARRANGEMENTS	46.7.1	to respond proportionately to changes in the Bank of England base rate or interest rates generally (including the interest rates paid on similar accounts by other providers of financial services);
45.1	All obligations hereunder are payable solely at Citibank N.A., Jersey Branch, subject to the laws of Jersey (including any governmental actions, orders, decrees and regulations).	46.7.2	to respond proportionately to changes in the law or the decision of a court or ombudsman;
45.2	Citibank N.A., Jersey Branch is a participant in the Jersey Banking Depositor Compensation Scheme ("DCS"), which offers protection for eligible deposits of up to £50,000 but only applies in respect of "eligible depositors", which includes individual natural persons, but does not, for example, include corporate clients or trustees. The DCS only applies in respect of "eligible deposits" which means cash deposits held with a bank in Jersey, such as Citibank N.A., Jersey Branch, but will not, for example, include any deposits held in banks outside Jersey or any investments held in Jersey or elsewhere. The maximum total amount of compensation is capped at £100,000,000 in any 5 year period. Full details of the DCS are available on the States of Jersey website (www.gov.je/dcs) or on request.	46.7.3	to meet relevant regulatory requirements;
45.3	For the avoidance of doubt you will not be entitled to compensation from the compensation scheme administered by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) or the UK Financial Services Compensation Scheme if we cannot meet our obligations to you.	46.7.4	to respond proportionately to new (or changes to) statements or codes of practice or industry guidance; or
45.4	In addition, in the liquidation or other resolution of a US insured depository institution (of which Citibank, N.A. is one), deposits in US offices and certain claims for administrative expenses and employee compensation are afforded a priority over other general unsecured claims, including deposits in offices outside the US.	46.7.5	to respond proportionately to changes to the costs we reasonably incur, including administration costs and costs of providing services or facilities.
46.	AMENDING THIS AGREEMENT	46.8	You agree that changes to any interest rate applicable to your Cash Account which are advantageous to you may be made immediately and without notice to you.
46.1	If we want to change, vary, amend or supplement this Agreement (including any changes to the Fee Schedule) in a material way, we will give you at least 30 days' prior written notice of the changes.	46.9	Where we believe a change to any interest rate applicable to your Cash Account is disadvantageous to you, we will give you notice of the change in accordance with clause 46.1. In these circumstances, you have the right at any time up to the date on which the change comes into effect to close or switch your Cash Account without charge or penalty. You may close or switch your Cash Account by writing to us using the details at the start of this Agreement (see clause 5 of Part 1) or by contacting your Relationship Manager. If you do not switch or close your Cash Account before the date on which the change comes into effect, you will be deemed to have accepted it. If the interest rate follows a reference rate and we have informed you of this fact, we do not have to give you advance notice of a change.
46.2	If you do not object to the changes before the proposed date of their entry into force, you will be deemed to have accepted them. If you do not agree to a change you may end this Agreement in accordance with clause 41 (subject to you settling all outstanding liabilities under this Agreement) and if you object to the changes, your objection shall be treated as notice to end your Agreement.	46.10	Information about our current interest rates is always available on our website at www.ipb.citi.com (or such other website as is notified to you) or this information can be obtained by contacting your Relationship Manager.
46.3	We may make changes to this Agreement (including changes to the fees and expenses) to take account of factors such as:	47.	DORMANT BANK ACCOUNTS (JERSEY) LAW 2017
46.3.1	changes in the cost of providing these services to you;		The Dormant Bank Accounts (Jersey) Law 2017 (the " Dormant Accounts Law ") provides that, where any account held with us has had no transactions for 15 years, we will be required to issue you with a notice 3 months before we are then required to transfer the funds in that account to the Jersey Reclaim Fund, which is run by the Chief Minister of Jersey and administered by the Treasury and Resources Department. In continuing to deal with us, you confirm that you are aware of our obligations in respect of the Dormant Accounts Law and agree that nothing contained in these terms and conditions will override any obligation which we may have pursuant to the Dormant Accounts Law.
46.3.2	changes or anticipated changes in legal or other requirements affecting us including, without limitation, the BRR(J)L;	48.	BANK (RECOVERY AND RESOLUTION) (JERSEY) LAW 2017
46.3.3	changes regarding our systems;		We may offer, issue, or provide advice or other services in relation to products and services which are subject to the provisions of the BRR(J)L and our liabilities and obligations may be subject to the provisions of the BRR(J)L. In deciding to deal with us generally, and in any particular case, you confirm that you are aware of the resolution tools and powers under the BRR(J)L which may be exercised in respect of us and the potential consequences on any product or service or other of our liabilities or obligations. In particular, you also agree and confirm that (i) any eligible liability as defined in the BRR(J)L may be subject to the write down and conversion powers set out in the BRR(J)L and will agree to be bound by any resulting reduction of the principal or outstanding due, conversion or cancellation that is effected by the exercise of that power (ii) we may amend or vary these terms and conditions in order to ensure that at all times we are in compliance with the provisions of the BRR(J)L.
46.3.4	product developments; or
46.3.5	the introduction of new products or services.
46.4	As long as you are able to end this Agreement without charge (or we agree to waive any charge that would otherwise apply) we may also change any of our other terms (including fees and expenses) for any valid reason not listed above.

49. ASSIGNMENT

49.1 We may at any time, assign or transfer our rights under this Agreement and any property that we are holding as security but your rights under this Agreement will not be affected if we do so. If we do so, we will notify you, and the assignment will take effect 14 days (or a later date if we state this in the notice) after such notification unless you notify us of your objection in writing within 14 days.

49.2 We may also arrange at any time for any other person to carry out our duties under this Agreement, or if we reasonably consider it necessary to comply with any Applicable Law, to transfer our duties to another Citigroup Organisation if the transfer does not materially affect the services we provide to you or your rights under this Agreement and the transferee is of similar capability, reputation and financial standing to us. If we do so, we will notify you and the transfer will take effect 14 days (or a later date if we state this in the notice) after such notification unless you notify us of your objection in writing within 14 days. Once the transfer has taken effect, we shall no longer have any obligations to you regarding this Agreement.

49.3 You may not assign, encumber or transfer your Accounts, deposits, or other Assets related to this Agreement to or in favour of a third party without our specific written consent.

50. THIRD PARTY RIGHTS

50.1 Except as specifically provided in this Agreement none of the provisions of this Agreement are intended to, or will, confer a benefit on or be enforceable by any third parties.

51. GENERAL

51.1 Any concession which we may grant to you shall not operate as an amendment of this Agreement and shall not affect your obligations or our rights (or enforcement of those rights) under this Agreement. You also agree that no delay in enforcing our rights under this Agreement will be construed as a waiver of our rights.

51.2 If any part of this Agreement is found to be unenforceable by a court, the rest of the Agreement will stand and be read as if that part were not included.

51.3 To the extent permitted by Applicable Law, you agree that no statutory terms (which shall include warranties, conditions or other contractual provisions) or rights, duties or liabilities imposed under the Supply of Goods and Services (Jersey) Law 2009 shall apply to you in relation to this Agreement.

51.4 Nothing in this Agreement (or the provision of any related services) shall require us to do or not to do anything if it would or might in our reasonable opinion constitute a breach of any Applicable Law.

52. GOVERNING LAW AND SUBMISSION TO JURISDICTION

This Agreement and any related services and any dispute or claim arising out of or in connection with it, its subject matter or how it is formed shall be governed by and construed according to the laws of Jersey. This Agreement is supplied in the English language and this is the language in which we will communicate with you during the course of the Agreement. You and Citi irrevocably agree that the courts of Jersey shall have non-exclusive jurisdiction to settle any disputes or claim that arises out of or in connection with this Agreement, its subject matter or how it is formed.

PART 5: Schedules 1 & 2

SCHEDULE 1:

PRODUCT SPECIFIC TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Where there is a conflict between the Product Specific Terms and Conditions (whether in this Schedule 1 or elsewhere) and the provisions set out in the main body of these General Terms and Conditions, the Product Specific Terms and Conditions will prevail.

1. GENERAL BANKING RELATIONSHIP

1.1 If you have an Account with us under this Agreement you will be a Citigold International client unless you qualify as a Citi Gold Private Client and you agree that we should grant you this status.

1.2 As a Citigold International client you will pay a monthly fee if your relationship balance falls below the required minimum level. This level and the monthly fee are set out in the Fee Schedule.

1.3 If you become a Citigold Private Client you will be eligible to receive additional benefits as a value added feature of the Account. Details of the benefits available to Citigold Private Clients, how you can enrol to receive them, and the applicable terms and conditions can be found at www.citi.com/ipb/europe/cpc or by contacting your Relationship Manager.

1.4 To become a Citigold Private Client you must maintain a relationship balance of US$1,000,000 (or currency equivalent) or higher with us. If you do this we will contact you to discuss whether you would like to become a Citigold Private Client.

1.5 If your relationship balance falls below US$1,000,000 (or currency equivalent) we have the right to no longer treat you as a Citigold Private Client. We will give you two months' notice in advance of any changes to your Citigold Private Client status.

1.6 We will monitor your relationship balance and will tell you if it falls below US$1,000,000 (or currency equivalent), during the period in which we treat you as a Citigold Private Client.

1.7 The relationship balance you have with Citi International Personal Bank is the monthly balance across all your cash deposits and investments, held in your name during the relevant month, including any balances held in a Joint Account (where you are the first-named account holder on that account). The monthly balance is calculated by totaling the daily balance and then dividing this by the number of days in the month. The monthly service fee will be deducted within the first 5 Business Days of the following month and will be debited without prior notification. We may deduct any overdue monthly service fee(s) from any Citi International Personal Bank account in credit held in the same name (or names) as your Account.

2. TIME DEPOSITS

2.1 Time Deposits are deposits with us which mature at the end of an agreed period (which may be from one week to one year or more after the initial placement date) and where the interest rate remains unchanged until the deposit matures. Our normal practice is to pay interest on Time Deposits at maturity. Interest rates for new time deposits are published on our website www.ipb.citi.com or such other website as is notified to you.

2.2 When you open an Account for a Time Deposit you will be asked if you wish the Time Deposit to renew automatically.

2.3 If you do not choose for your Time Deposit to renew automatically, it will mature after the stated term.

2.4 If you do choose for your Time Deposit to renew automatically, the deposit and any interest earned will automatically be renewed for a similar period at the interest rate applicable for new Time Deposits at the date of renewal. We will continue to do this until we receive timely instructions from you to the contrary or until such time as the Time Deposit is no longer available for renewal. If you wish subsequently to revoke your renewal instructions you must give us such instructions no later than 11.30 a.m. UK time, four Business Days prior to the maturity date.

2.5 Time Deposit withdrawals may normally be made only on the maturity date of the deposit. If you wish to cancel a Time Deposit before it matures, you may be required to pay the costs and/or charges stipulated in the Fee Schedule and the Investment Costs and Charges Illustration from time to time.

2.6 Interest will accrue on a 365 day year basis on all GBP, HKD and RUB interest bearing Accounts. In any other currency, interest will accrue on the customary moneymarket basis (usually on a 360 day year basis).

2.7 Interest is paid net of Withholding Taxes which we are required to deduct under Applicable Law, clause 34.6 contains further information about taxes (please therefore refer to clause 34.6 in this regard).

3.1	These Fund Terms
3.1.1	These Fund Terms set out the terms under which you may carry out transactions in mutual funds or unit trusts as offered by us from time to time.
3.1.2	These Fund Terms should be read together with the General Terms and Conditions which, together with the Fee Schedule and the Investment Costs and Charges Illustration, form the basis of our agreement with you.
3.1.3	Each individual order to invest in a mutual fund or unit trust (an "Order") will be subject to the terms set out in these Fund Terms and certain terms, such as the investment amount or certain fees which are payable, shall be determined separately for each Order that you enter into (but at all times in accordance with the General Terms and Conditions, the Fee Schedule and the Investment Costs and Charges Illustration).
3.1.4	Upon agreement with us, it may be possible for you to make regular subscription investments in mutual funds or unit trusts on a recurrent basis. Where this is the case, we will provide you with a separate document (in addition to these Fund Terms, the General Terms and Conditions, the Fee Schedule and the Investment Costs and Charges Illustration), which will contain specific terms relating to such regular subscription investments and in which case any Order you make under such arrangement will be subject to the terms of such separate document as well as these Fund Terms, the General Terms and Conditions, the Fee Schedule and the Investment Costs and Charges Illustration.
3.2	Your representations
3.2.1	Representations are personal statements, assurances or undertakings given by you to us on which we rely when we deal with you and process Orders on your behalf.
3.2.2	You make the following representations at the time you enter into these Fund Terms and every time you place an Order with us:
	(a) you understand that you are not under any obligation to buy any investments through us or any Citigroup Organisation. You can take away a copy of your asset allocation and/or list of funds made available by us without having to place an Order and you are free to pursue advice and execute your investments with a broker or adviser of your own choosing;
	(b) we will be acting as your agent, in our sole name and without prejudice to any security rights relating to any investment;
	(c) you have made all enquiries and received all the advice (including financial or tax advice) you think necessary to place an Order in relation to the mutual fund or unit trusts to which the Order relates and which may include investment advice except where you place an Order on our advice. Where we provide you with investment advice, the advice will be as described in clause 19.2 of the General Terms and Conditions;
	(d) you acknowledge that once you have spoken to your Relationship Manager and confirmed (a) the details of an Order and (b) that you have read all the documentation you have received in connection with your Order (including these Fund Terms) you will not be able to cancel your Order;
	(e) you understand that we may refuse your Order and that the validity of any Order is subject to the receipt of cleared funds by the fund, unit trust or counterparty relating to your Order;
	(f) you understand and accept that any dividends received by us in respect of your Order may not be passed on to you, but used to purchase additional shares or units in the fund or unit trust relating to your Order;
	(g) you confirm that you are not a United States (US) citizen or resident or otherwise a US person for the purposes of the United States Securities Act 1933, as amended from time to time, and you accept that investments in the fund(s) or unit trust relating to your Order may not be held or transferred to a US person and you agree to inform us if, at any time, you become a US person;

	(i) you confirm that there are no regulatory impediments in relation to your country of residence or citizenship prohibiting you from placing an Order and you agree to inform us if, at any time, your circumstances in this regard change;
	(j) where your Order relates to funds or unit trusts registered in Luxembourg, you acknowledge that the shares or units of the fund or unit trust will be registered in our name or that of our agent, acting as your nominee. However, you confirm that you understand that you may directly invest in the fund or unit trust without using the nominee service offered by us and, furthermore, you may claim a direct entitlement to your shares or units registered in our name, where it is acting as your nominee;
	(k) you understand that any interest, dividends, and other income and capital gains from units or shares in fund or unit trusts may be subject to taxes, including Withholding Taxes. You agree that we and our appointed nominees or agents may withhold the amount of these taxes from payments to you. If your available assets with us do not cover the tax liability, you agree to provide us on demand with any additional funds required;
	(l) you acknowledge that we, and/or any nominee or agent we appoint in relation to your Order, are not obliged to inform you of any shareholder communications which we/they may receive as a shareholder or unit holder in a fund or unit trusts nor take any action in relation to such communications, where this is applicable to your Order. In particular, we and our appointed nominees or agents will not be obliged to consult you in relation to exercising the voting rights attached to the units or shares in the fund or unit trusts in which you invest and shall have complete discretion as to whether to exercise such voting rights at all; and
	(m) you accept that we do not warrant the performance or profitability of your Order or the relevant fund(s) or unit trust(s). You accept that you are solely responsible for paying taxes or Withholding Taxes arising from the purchase or sale of the units or shares in fund or unit trusts. In addition, you understand that we have no obligation to reclaim for you any excess taxes withheld.

3.3.2	Investments in mutual funds or unit trusts (such as your Orders) are not insured by any government agency and are not a deposit or other obligation of, or guaranteed by, any Citigroup Organisation, unless specifically stated in product documentation.
3.3.3	You should not enter into an Order without first carefully reading the Fund Terms, the General Terms and Conditions, the Fee Schedule and the Investment Costs and Charges Illustration. We intend to rely on all such documents so you should not enter into an Order if you do not understand anything or if you have any questions. If you do have any questions, please contact your Relationship Manager before proceeding.
4.	STRUCTURED NOTES
	Additional terms and conditions apply, which relate specifically to structured notes. These can be obtained on request from your Relationship Manager, but in any event will be provided to you in advance of you entering into any structured note.

5. FOREIGN EXCHANGE TRANSACTIONS

- 5.1 If you buy or sell currency with us, we will execute these transactions at spot (that is, the price available in the market at that time) or same day value unless we agree otherwise.
- 5.2 Spot transactions will normally be for settlement on the second Business Day after dealing.
- 5.3 FX Order Watch Services
- 5.3.1 Clauses 5.3.1 - 5.3.12 of this Schedule 1 will apply to you in the event that you place an FX Order using the FX Order Watch service. You should read these clauses carefully as they contain important information on which we intend to rely. Some of the words we use in these clauses have a special meaning. If you do not understand a word you should speak to your Relationship Manager and you should not proceed until the meaning is clear to you.
- 5.3.2 The following definitions are relevant to this service
- "Alternate Currency"
means the currency (selected by you) which you will receive if an Order is executed.
- "Customer Rate" means the Watch Rate less any Commission and represents the effective rate you will receive when the Order is executed.
- "FX Order"
means an order placed by you for foreign exchange in which you specify the Original Currency, the Alternate Currency, the Transaction Amount, the Tenor and the Watch Rate or Customer Rate.
- "Original Currency"
means the currency (selected by you) which will be exchanged if an FX Order is executed.
- "Tenor"
means the period during which your FX Order remains active for watching in accordance with your instructions and these General Terms and Conditions.
- "Transaction Amount"
means the amount which you choose to allocate to an FX Order.
- "Watch Rate"
means the target exchange rate selected by you at which you wish the FX Order to be executed.
- 5.3.3 FX Order Watch is a service which allows you to place an FX Order for spot transactions in foreign exchange which will remain live for execution at a Watch Rate and for a Tenor selected by you.
- 5.3.4 If during the Tenor, the Citi Reference Market Rate reaches the Watch Rate, the FX Order will be executed and your Cash Account will be credited with the Transaction Amount in the Alternate Currency.
- 5.3.5 If during the Tenor, the Citi Reference Market Rate does not reach the Watch Rate, the FX Order will automatically expire.
- 5.3.6 An FX Order is live for watching as soon as you place the FX Order. The Tenor of an FX Order can be specified by you up to a maximum validity period of 90 calendar days from the date on which you place the FX Order. Unless executed, an FX Order will expire at 00.00 (UK time) on the final day of the Tenor. You may also specify that the Tenor of one FX Order should expire on the execution of another FX Order.
- 5.3.7 Before you can place an FX Order you must hold Cash Accounts with us in the Original Currency and the Alternate Currency. In addition, your Cash Account in the Original Currency must hold sufficient funds to cover the Transaction Amount. All FX Orders are subject to a minimum Transaction Amount of USD 20,000 (or currency equivalent) over the phone and USD 10,000 (or currency equivalent) on Citi Online. On Citi Online there is also a maximum Transaction Amount of USD 1,000,000 (or currency equivalent).
- 5.3.8 When you place an FX Order, we will place a hold over the Transaction Amount in the Original Currency until the FX Order is executed, cancelled or has expired. This means that the Transaction Amount will not be available to you during the Tenor of the FX Order.

- 5.3.9 You may specify any Watch Rate for an FX Order, subject to a minimum percentage 'cushion' (meaning that the Watch Rate specified must be a minimum percentage above or below the current Citi Reference Market Rate at the time the FX Order is placed). If you subsequently change the Watch Rate for an FX Order, the new Watch Rate you specify will also be subject to this cushion (calculated against the Citi Reference Market Rate at that time). Your FX Order is also subject to the cushion when you try to cancel an order (meaning that the current Citi Reference Market Rate during FX Order cancellation must be a minimum percentage above the Watch Rate). The size of the cushion may vary from time to time depending on currencies selected and market volatility. Before you place an FX Order, your Relationship Manager can confirm the exact size of the cushion applicable at that time.
- 5.3.10 If you wish to change or cancel an FX Order prior to execution you can do so by contacting your Relationship Manager during business hours or through Citi Online at any time. FX Orders will remain live until you have received confirmation that the FX Order has been cancelled. FX Orders may not be cancelled or changed once executed.
- 5.3.11 When an FX Order is executed, the Transaction Amount will be credited to your Cash Account in the Alternate Currency. This normally happens immediately, but in any event no later than the second Business Day after execution. It is not possible to roll transactions over or otherwise place a new FX Order using the Transaction Amount without having first received the Transaction Amount into your Cash Account.
- 5.3.12 Please note it is not possible to enter forward transactions (where the execution price is pre-determined regardless of market movements) using the FX Order Watch service. All FX Orders are executed at spot (that is the price available in the market at the time the transaction is executed).
- 5.3.13 Occasionally, for reasons outside our control, it may not be possible to execute an FX Order when the Citi Reference Market Rate reaches the Watch Rate during the Tenor. For example market volatility or the liquidity of a particular currency may mean that the FX Order cannot be matched in the market at the Watch Rate selected by you. In such circumstances the FX Order will remain live until the expiry of the Tenor.

		15. IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT COMPENSATION ARRANGEMENTS
		15.1 In relation to the Specified Services, the UK Financial Services Compensation Scheme (the " Scheme ") provides compensation in certain instances where we are unable, or likely to be unable, to satisfy protected claims against us. In such circumstances, the Scheme may provide compensation

- for claims relating to the Specified Services provided by us which constitute investment business (for example, but not limited to, if we give advice in relation to a particular product, arrange for an investment in a particular product, or execute a transaction).
- 15.2 However, the Scheme is governed by specific rules on compensation which determine your eligibility, the circumstances in which compensation will be available to you, and the limits on compensation payable to you. Any recovery under the Scheme is therefore subject to your specific circumstances, the nature of your claim and the specific rules of the Scheme. Most customers - including most individuals and small businesses - are covered by the Scheme.
- 15.3 Claims under the Scheme in relation to protected investment business are subject to maximum limits on compensation. These are published from time to time on the Scheme's website. It is not possible to claim an amount in excess of the maximum limit even where the financial loss suffered or the amount of investment is higher.
- 15.4 The compensation limit for protected investment business as at 1 April 2019 is £85,000 per client per authorised firm. The £85,000 limit relates to the combined amount applicable to protected investment business undertaken by us for you.
- 15.5 Up-to-date information on the limits applicable under the Scheme is available at: www.fscs.org.uk
- 15.6 For the avoidance of doubt, if you are an eligible claimant to whom the Scheme applies and you satisfy the necessary conditions under the Scheme, the compensation amounts that may be payable to you under the Scheme will be payable to you regardless of whether the Denominated Currency of your Account or the base currency of your investment is sterling or some other currency.
- 15.7 Please note that financial instruments which are not deposits for Scheme purposes are not protected in the same manner as deposits. This means that should the issuer or product provider of such a financial instrument fail to pay under the instrument or the instrument falls in value, you would not be entitled to any compensation under the Scheme from us solely on the basis of such a failure or such fall in value. Scheme cover may be available for claims against a party who provides protected investment business to you where the claim is directly related to the provision of that protected investment business, for example if you have a claim against us in relation to such protected investment business and we are unable to meet our obligations under that claim.
- 15.8 We will provide further information on the conditions governing compensation and the formalities which must be completed to obtain compensation upon request. More detailed information on the Scheme is also available from the Scheme's website: www.fscs.org.uk or you can contact the Scheme at:

- 18.1 In relation to any legal action or proceedings arising out of or in connection with this Addendum (whether arising out of or in connection with contractual or non-contractual obligations) ("Proceedings"), you agree to irrevocably submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts (unless you are a resident in the EEA, in which case the English courts shall have non-exclusive jurisdiction which means that a dispute may be heard in the courts of the country of the EEA in which you live) and waive any objection to Proceedings in such courts on the grounds of venue or on the grounds that Proceedings have been brought in an inappropriate forum.

SCHEDULE A: DISTANCE CONTRACTS AND CANCELLATION RIGHTS: ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

1. BACKGROUND

When we enter into this Addendum with you in circumstances where we have no face-to-face physical contact with you, we are required by the FCA to provide you with certain information over and above that set out in the main body of this Addendum and to give you certain additional cancellation rights. - 5.1.6.2 you understand and agree that we are entitled to receive without delay, and no later than 30 calendar days after the date on which you posted or otherwise sent notice of cancellation to us, any sums or property or both that you have received from us under this Addendum.
- 5.1.7 These cancellation rights, the arrangements for exercising those rights, and the charges that we may levy upon the exercise of those rights are confined to the beginning of the relationship between us and you and are separate from the standard termination arrangements in clause 41 of the Jersey General Terms and Conditions (as read in accordance with this Addendum) which will operate after the 14 calendar days cancellation period has concluded.

SECTION TWO: UNDERSTANDING OUR SERVICES AND RISKS

This notice is provided to you, as a retail client, in compliance with the JFSC Rules.

This notice cannot disclose all the risks and other significant aspects of the products described below. You should not deal in these products unless you understand their nature and the extent of your exposure to risk. You should also be satisfied that the investment is suitable for you in the light of your own particular experience, objectives and financial circumstances.

There may be a credit risk involved with any persons involved in the distribution of interests in a product described below, or any counterparty to a product described below, arising from the potential insolvency and credit failing of those persons or counterparties which may result in part of, or the full amount of your investment not being repaid to you.

Although different products can be utilised for the management of investment risk, some of these products are unsuitable for many investors. Different instruments involve different levels of exposure to risk and in deciding whether to trade in such instruments you should be aware of the following points.

You should also understand that indications of past performance of a product are not a reliable indicator of future results.

1. SHARES

- 1.1 When you buy or subscribe for shares issued by a company, you are buying a part of that company and you become a shareholder in it, which usually means you have the right to vote on certain issues. You can either buy new shares when the company sells them to raise money (through an initial public offering) or buy existing shares which are traded on the stock market.

- 1.2 The aim is for the value of your shares to grow over time as the value of the company increases in line with its profitability and growth. In addition, you may also receive a dividend, which is income paid out of the company's profits. Longer-established companies usually pay dividends whilst growing companies tend to pay lower, or no, dividends (with these a shareholder would typically be hoping for better capital growth).
- 1.3 Under normal circumstances, a shareholder in a company has no right to require that company to return capital to it. Unless the company chooses to return capital to the shareholder (for example by effecting a share buyback) or the shares carry redemption rights exercisable by the shareholder (which is normally not the case), the shareholder's only way to realise its investment will be to sell the shares to another investor. Consequently, a shareholder's return from investing in the equity will depend to a large extent on the market price of the equities at the time of the sale. The market price of an equity is affected by the supply of, and demand for, that equity within the market. In turn, supply and demand (and therefore the volatility of the share price) are affected by a number of factors including:
- domestic versus international factors - the vulnerability of the company to international events or market factors. These would include movements in exchange rates, changes in trade or tariff policies and changes in other stock or bond markets;
 - sector specific factors - these would include demand for the product the company produces, commodity prices, the economic cycle of industry, changes in consumer demands, lifestyle changes and changes in technology; and
 - company specific factors - these would include the company's directors, the strength of the company's management and the significance of any key personnel, the company's profit history, the company's tangible asset base, debt level and fixed cost structure, litigation, profits or losses on particular contracts, competition from within the sector, and whether the company already has a profitable business or whether it is exploring for recoverable resources or is developing a new product.
- 1.4 The level of a stock market goes up or down as the prices of the shares that are the constituents of that market go up or down. A factor determining the price of a share is the perception of its current value to its owner.
- 1.5 One factor that could affect the price of a share is a change in opinion as to how well the company itself is performing or could perform in the future. This opinion is frequently based on predictions about the economic conditions in which a company is operating, which is why it might seem that stock markets go up or down depending on economic conditions.
- 1.6 Shares are generally a fairly volatile asset class - their value tends to go up and down more than other classes such as bonds and regulated collective investment schemes. If you are investing in shares, you should expect the value of your investment to go down as well as up, and you should be comfortable with this. Holding shares is high risk - if you have put all your money into one company and that company becomes insolvent then you will probably lose most, if not all, of your money.
- 1.7 In the short term, shares may go up and down in value and this can occasionally be very significant. However, if you have a wide range of shares, it reduces the likelihood of losing all or most of your money.
- 1.8 The liquidity of the shares may be affected by whether the shares are listed or unlisted. Where shares are unlisted it may be more difficult to deal in them or to obtain reliable information about their value (and it may therefore be difficult to establish a proper market in them for the purposes of making a subsequent sale).
- 1.9 On occasion you may invest in listed share investments where the issuer proposes to use borrowing or other forms of gearing to enhance the return for or value of investments it has made without increasing the amount invested. The value of such investments may be more volatile than the underlying investments made by the issuer and may be subject to sudden and large falls in value and, if the fall in value is sufficiently large, the value of the investment may fall to zero.

1.10	If a company goes into liquidation, its shareholders rank behind the company's creditors (including its subordinated creditors) in relation to the realisation and distribution of the company's assets - with the result that a shareholder will normally only receive any money from the liquidator if there are any remaining proceeds of the liquidation once all of the creditors of the company have been paid in full.	factors such as the demand for, and supply of, money in the economy, the inflation rate, the stage that the business cycle is in as well as the government's monetary and fiscal policies.
1.11	Remember, as a shareholder in the company, you could lose some or all of the money that you have invested in the shares.
2.	DEPOSITARY RECEIPTS
2.1	Depository receipts include American or European Depositary Receipts (ADRs or EDRs), Global Depositary Receipts or Shares (GDRs or GDSs) or other similar global instruments that are receipts representing ownership of shares of a foreign-based issuer held in trust by a bank or similar financial institution. These securities are designed for U.S. and European securities markets as alternatives to purchasing underlying securities in their corresponding national markets and currencies. Depository receipts can be sponsored or unsponsored. Sponsored depository receipts are certificates in which a bank or financial institution participates with a custodian.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Call risk - the risk that a bond will be called by its issuer. Callable bonds have call provisions, which allow the bond issuer to purchase the bond back from the bondholders and retire the issue. This is usually done when interest rates have fallen substantially since the issue date. Call provisions allow the issuer to retire the old, high-rate bonds and sell low-rate bonds in a bid to lower debt costs. • Default risk - the risk that the bond's issuer will be unable to pay the contractual interest or principal on the bond in a timely manner, or at all. Credit ratings services such as Moody's, Standard & Poor's and Fitch give credit ratings to bond issues, which helps to give investors an idea of how likely it is that a payment default will occur. • Inflation risk - the risk that the rate of price increases in the economy deteriorates the returns associated with the bond. This has the greatest effect on fixed-rate bonds, which have a set interest rate from inception. For example, if an investor purchases a 5% fixed bond and then inflation rises to 10% a year, the bondholder will lose money on the investment because the purchasing power of the proceeds has been greatly diminished. The interest rates of floating-rate bonds are adjusted periodically, thereby limiting investors' exposure to inflation risk.
2.2	The risks of investing in depository receipts generally reflect the risks of the securities held in the trust. The acquisition and disposal of some depository receipts is limited to round-lots or round-lot multiples. Depository receipts may trade in the secondary market at prices lower than the aggregate value of the corresponding underlying securities. In such cases, some depository receipts enable the holders to realise the underlying value of the securities by cancelling the receipt and receiving a corresponding amount of underlying securities, which requires the payment of fees and expenses.
3.	BONDS
3.1	A bond is a loan to a company, government or a local authority. Generally, interest is paid to you as the lender and the amount of the loan repaid at the end of the term.
3.2	When you buy or subscribe for bonds, you become a creditor of the issuer of the bonds. The issuer might be a government or a corporate business or it may be an entity that has been formed specifically for the purposes of issuing the bonds (this is normally the case where the bonds pass through to investors the cashflows generated by specific assets, such as corporate loans, residential mortgages or credit card receivables).
3.3	Bonds have a nominal value. This is the sum that will be returned to investors when the bond matures at the end of its term.
3.4	However, because bonds are traded on the bond market, the price you pay for a bond may be more or less than the nominal value. There are several reasons why the price might vary from the nominal value, for example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If a bond is issued with a fixed interest rate of, say, 8% and general interest rates then fall well below 8%, then 8% will look like a good yield and the market price of the bond will tend to rise above the nominal value. • The reverse is also true. If interest rates rise, the fixed rate of a particular bond might become less attractive and its price could fall below the nominal value. • Ratings agencies might take the view that a particular company's bond no longer qualifies for a high rating - perhaps the company is not doing as well as it was when the bond was issued. If this happens then the market price of the bond might fall. On the other hand, the company's rating may be improved which may lead to a price rise. • The inflation rate might start to creep up and the interest rate on some bonds might start to look less attractive compared with other investments. 	3.6 Bonds can be bought and sold in the market (like shares) and their price can vary from day to day. A rise or fall in the market price of a bond does not affect what you would get back if you hold the bond until it matures. You will only get back the nominal value of the bond (plus any coupon payment to which you have been entitled during your ownership of the bond), irrespective of what you paid for it. 3.7 For some bonds there may be a restricted market and it may be more difficult to deal in them or obtain reliable information about their value (and it may therefore be difficult to establish a proper market in them for the purposes of making a subsequent sale). 3.8 Some bonds generate a return that is linked to the performance of a real or notional pool of underlying assets. In such circumstances, the return you receive will depend upon the performance of the underlying pool. Many structured products take the form of bonds (see the "Structured Products" section below for further details of the risks associated with structured products). 3.9 As a bondholder you could lose some or (in extreme cases) all of the money that you have invested in the bonds that you hold.
3.5	The risks associated with investing in bonds include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Interest rate risk - the risk that bond prices will fall as interest rates rise. By buying a bond, the bondholder may have committed to receiving a fixed rate of return for a fixed period. Should the market interest rate rise from the date of the bond's purchase, the bond's price will fall accordingly. The bond will then be trading at a discount to reflect the lower return that an investor will make on the bond. Market interest rates are a function of several 	3.10 Convertible bonds 3.10.1 Some bonds are convertible or exchangeable into a specific number of another form of security (usually the issuer's ordinary shares) at a specified price or ratio. A company may issue a convertible security that is subject to redemption after a specified date, and usually under certain circumstances. A holder of a convertible bond that is called for redemption would be required to tender it for redemption to the issuer, convert it to the underlying equities or sell it to a third party. 3.10.2 Convertible bonds typically pay a lower interest rate than nonconvertible bonds of the same quality and maturity, because of the convertible feature. This structure allows the holder of the convertible bond to participate in share price movements in the company's shares. The actual return on a convertible bond may exceed its stated yield if the company's shares appreciate in value and the option to convert to shares becomes more valuable. 3.10.3 Convertible bonds typically trade at prices above their conversion value, which is the current market value of the shares received upon conversion, because of their higher yield potential than the underlying shares. The difference between the conversion value and the price of a convertible bond will vary depending on the value of the underlying shares and interest rates. When the underlying value of the shares decline, the price of the issuer's convertible bonds will tend not to fall as much because the convertible bond's income potential will act as a price support. While the value of a convertible bond also tends to rise when the price of the underlying shares rises, it may not rise as much because their conversion value is more narrow. The value of convertible bonds also is affected by changes in interest rates. For example, when interest rates fall, the value of convertible bonds may rise because of their fixed income component.

4. COLLECTIVE INVESTMENT SCHEMES

4.1 A collective investment scheme ("CIS") is a scheme which allows an investor to invest money on a pooled basis (along with a number of other investors). A CIS may take the form of a company, partnership or trust.

4.2 As an investor, you buy shares/partnership interests/units in the CIS in the hope that the value rises over time as the prices of the underlying investments increase. The price of the shares/partnership interests/units depends on how the underlying investments perform.

4.3 Some CISs are called "open ended" because the number of shares/partnership interests/units in issue increases as more people invest and decreases as people take their money out. "Closed-ended" CISs are CISs where investors are either unable to withdraw their investments or can only do so in very restrictive circumstances.

4.4 Normally, there is no established secondary market in CISs which means that your investment in them cannot usually be sold to third parties. However, (except for certain types of "closed-ended" fund) the constitutional documents of the CIS will normally provide for you to be able to redeem your investment in the CIS at its net asset value. The frequency with which you can redeem your investment will depend upon the precise terms of those constitutional documents.

4.5 As an investor in a CIS, the value of any investment can go down as well as up and you could lose some or all of the money that you have invested. The level of risk of an investment in a CIS will depend on the underlying investments in which it is invested and how well diversified the CIS is. For example, a CIS which invests only in one industrial sector, such as technology, will invariably be more risky than a CIS that invests across the whole range of companies in a market. You should maintain an appropriate level of emergency funds to meet unexpected expenses.

4.6 Past performance of a CIS is not a reliable indicator of future results.

4.7 Regulated CIS

Some CISs are regulated which means that there are rules about (and limits on) the types of underlying investments in which the CIS can invest and the frequency and price at which investments in the CIS can be redeemed. In particular, the rules applicable to regulated CISs limit the extent to which they can invest in derivatives or leverage their portfolios. Regulated CISs include FCA authorised unit trusts and OEICs (open ended investment companies, which are the same as ICVCs – Investment Companies with Variable Capital); UCITS; Luxembourg CSSF authorised SICAVs (Sociétés d'investissement à capital variable); and FCPs (Fonds communs de placement).

4.8 Exchange-traded funds

4.8.1 Exchange-traded funds (or ETFs) are CISs which have an exchange listing and for which there is a secondary market on the exchange on which the shares are listed. Therefore, unlike other types of fund, profits or losses from a position in shares in the ETF can be realised not just by redeeming the shares but also by selling them on the relevant exchange. Typically, ETFs try to replicate a stock market index such as the FTSE 100 or the Hang Seng Index, a market sector such as energy or technology, or a commodity such as gold or petroleum.

4.8.2 The legal structure can vary, however the major common features include:

- ETFs have an exchange listing;
- ETFs are normally index-linked rather than actively managed;

- there is often an ability to handle contributions and redemptions on an in-kind basis (typically in large blocks of shares only);
- the 'value' of the ETF (but not necessarily the price at which its shares trade - they can trade at a 'premium' or 'discount' to the 'underlying' assets' value) derives from the value of the 'underlying' assets comprising the ETF;
- the 'underlying assets' can be physical assets or a synthetic asset for example a derivative giving economic exposure only to the 'underlying assets'; and
- European ETFs are generally regulated CISs.

4.8.3 The price of the ETF shares depends on two main factors:

- the value of the underlying investments; and
- the popularity (or unpopularity) of the ETF shares in the market.

4.8.4 The result is that ETF shares do not simply reflect the value of the underlying investments, they also reflect their popularity in the market. At any time the share price may be at a discount or premium to the asset value.

4.8.5 Some ETFs borrow money to invest (to increase the level exposure to the underlying index). This is called gearing. Gearing improves an ETFs performance when its investments are doing well. On the other hand, if its investments do not do as well as expected, gearing lowers performance. An ETF that is geared is a higher risk investment than one which is not geared (assuming the same underlying investments).

5. EXCHANGE TRADED NOTES ("ETNs")

ETNs, as debt instruments, are subject to risk of default by the issuer. As such, ETNs have their value decided not only by the performance of the index they are designed to track but also by the credit rating of the issuer. Where the rating of the issuer deteriorates, the value of the ETN issued by that issuer could fall in value even if the underlying index does not. Investing in ETNs is not appropriate for investors who lack the skill or resources to consider the credit risk of the issuer or who are unable to accept that credit risk.

6. EXCHANGE TRADED COMMODITIES ("ETCs")

ETCs may not invest in securities, in which case regulations applicable to securities do not apply to such ETCs. ETCs may not invest in commodities directly but in commodity derivatives instead, in which case the price of such an ETC may not track the spot price of the underlying commodity directly. Investing in ETCs is not appropriate for investors who lack the skill to consider these characteristics of ETCs or who are unable to accept risks associated with investing in ETCs.

7. DERIVATIVES

7.1 Options

7.1.1 An option gives the buyer of the option the right (but not the obligation) to acquire or sell an underlying security or other asset at a future date and at a price that has already been agreed or that is determinable in accordance with a pre-agreed mechanism.

7.1.2 Buying options involves less risk than writing options because, if the price of the underlying asset moves against you, you can simply allow the option to lapse. The maximum loss is limited to the premium, plus any commission or other transaction charges. However, if you buy a call option on a futures contract and you later exercise the option, you will acquire the future. This will expose you to the risks described in the "Futures" section below.

7.1.3 If you write an option, the risk involved is considerably greater than buying options. You may be liable for margin to maintain your position and a loss may be sustained well in excess of the premium received. By writing an option, you accept a legal obligation to purchase or sell the underlying asset if the option is exercised against you, however far the market price has moved away from the exercise price. If you already own the underlying asset which you have contracted to sell (when the options will be known as 'covered call options') the risk is reduced. If you do not own the underlying asset ('uncovered call options') the risk can be unlimited.

7.1.4 The performance of an option that you have written depends primarily on how the underlying asset performs during the life of the option. The value of the option can, therefore, be affected by any risk factors that can affect the price of the underlying asset to which the option relates. A relatively small movement in the price of the underlying asset can result in a disproportionately large movement, unfavourable or favourable, in the value of the option. The prices of options can, therefore, be volatile.

7.1.5	If you write options, you may sustain a total loss of any margin you deposit with the counterparty to establish or maintain a position. If the market moves against you, you may be called upon to pay substantial additional margin at short notice to maintain the position. If you fail to do so within the time required, your position may be liquidated at a loss and you will be responsible for the resulting deficit.	7.2.3	You may sustain a total loss of any margin you deposit with the counterparty to establish or maintain a position. If the market moves against you, you may be called upon to pay substantial additional margin at short notice to maintain the position. If you fail to do so within the time required, your position may be liquidated at a loss and you will be responsible for the resulting deficit.
7.1.6	Even if a written option transaction is not margined, you may still carry an obligation to make further payments in certain circumstances over and above any amount paid when you entered the contract.	7.2.4	The insolvency or default of the counterparty or any of the brokers involved with your futures transaction may lead to positions being liquidated or closed out without your consent. In certain circumstances, you may not get back the actual assets which you lodged as collateral and you may have to accept any available payments in cash.
7.1.7	Certain London Stock Exchange member firms under special exchange rules write a particular type of option called a 'traditional option'. These may involve greater risk than other options. Two-way prices are not usually quoted and there is no exchange market on which to close out an open position or to effect an equal and opposite transaction to reverse an open position. It may be difficult to assess its value or for the seller of such an option to manage its exposure to risk.	7.2.5	On many exchanges, the performance of a transaction by the relevant broker is 'guaranteed' by the exchange or clearing house. However, this guarantee is unlikely in most circumstances to cover you, as the customer, and may not protect you if the broker or another party defaults on its obligations to you. In some circumstances it is possible (and in some cases, it may be mandatory) to use a clearing house for certain types of OTC instruments, although depending on the particular instrument this may not be possible or it may not be commonplace.
7.1.8	Certain options markets operate on a margined basis, under which buyers do not pay the full premium on their option at the time they purchase it. In this situation you may subsequently be called upon to pay margin on the option up to the level of its premium. If you fail to do so as required, your position may be closed or liquidated in the same way as a futures position.	7.2.6	Futures may be executed on an investment exchange or on an OTC basis. While some OTC markets are highly liquid, transactions in OTC derivatives may involve greater risk than investing in on-exchange derivatives because there is no exchange market on which to close out an open position. It may be impossible to liquidate an existing position, to assess the value of the position arising from an OTC transaction or to assess the exposure to risk. Bid prices and offer prices need not be quoted, and, even where they are, they will be established by dealers in these instruments and consequently it may be difficult to establish what is a fair price.
7.1.9	The insolvency or default of the counterparty or any of the brokers involved with your option transaction may lead to positions being liquidated or closed out without your consent. In certain circumstances, you may not get back the actual assets which you lodged as collateral and you may have to accept any available payments in cash.	8.	STRUCTURED PRODUCTS
7.1.10	On many exchanges, the performance of a transaction by the relevant broker is 'guaranteed' by the exchange or clearing house. However, this guarantee is unlikely in most circumstances to cover you, as the customer, and may not protect you if the broker or another party defaults on its obligations to you. In some circumstances it is possible (and in some cases, it may be mandatory) to use a clearing house for certain types of "over-the-counter" (" OTC ") instruments, although depending on the particular instrument this may not be possible or it may not be commonplace.	8.1	Structured Products are products structured to fulfil a particular trading or market objective. A structured product may combine the features of two or more financial instruments (for example a bond and a derivative). Derivatives often constitute an integral part of a structured product. The product may involve an element of leverage and so a relatively small movement in the value of the relevant underlying asset or index may have a significant effect on the value of the structured product.
7.1.11	Options may be executed on an investment exchange or on an OTC basis. While some OTC markets are highly liquid, transactions in OTC derivatives may involve greater risk than investing in on-exchange derivatives because there is no exchange market on which to close out an open position. It may be impossible to liquidate an existing position, to assess the value of the position arising from an OTC transaction or to assess the exposure to risk. Bid prices and offer prices need not be quoted, and, even where they are, they will be established by dealers in these instruments and consequently it may be difficult to establish what is a fair price.	8.2	Structured products are generally not traded on Trading Venues and you take the risk on the counterparty issuing the structure. There is typically no recognised market for these investments and it may, therefore, be difficult for you to deal in the investment or to obtain reliable information about its value or the extent of the risks to which it is exposed.
7.2	Futures	8.3	Some (but not all) structured products include an element of capital protection – however, you should bear in mind that this is not a guarantee that the amount invested will be returned in all circumstances. The capital protection offered is typically subject to the investment being held until maturity and to the creditworthiness of the issuer.
7.2.1	Transactions in futures involve the obligation to make, or to take, delivery of the underlying asset of the contract at a future date, or in some cases to settle the position with cash. They carry a high degree of risk. The performance of a futures contract depends primarily on how the underlying asset performs during the life of the contract. The value of the future can therefore be affected by any of the risk factors that can affect the price of the underlying asset to which the futures contract relates.	8.4	Other structured products do not include any capital protection, which means that you could lose some or all of the amount invested even if you hold the product until maturity and even if the issuer remains creditworthy.
7.2.2	The 'gearing' or 'leverage' often obtainable in futures trading means that a small deposit or down payment can lead to large losses as well as gains. It also means that a relatively small movement can lead to a proportionately much larger movement in the value of your investment, and this can work against you as well as for you. Futures transactions have a contingent liability which means that you may be liable for margin to maintain its position and a loss may be sustained well in excess of the premium received. By entering into a futures contract, you accept a legal obligation to purchase or	8.5	Structured products are often high risk investments and you could lose some or all of the money that you have invested in them. In addition, some Structured Products may also involve more than one currency, which exposes you to the risk of adverse changes in exchange rates (see "Foreign Exchange" section below in relation to foreign exchange risks).
		9.	FOREIGN EXCHANGE
		9.1	Engaging in foreign exchange (" FX ") trading (buying one currency in exchange for another) exposes you to the risk of adverse changes in exchange rates.

- 9.2 Exchange rates can be volatile and are driven by a variety of factors affecting the economies of the jurisdictions whose currencies you are trading.
- 9.3 The 'gearing' or 'leverage' often obtainable in FX trading means that a small deposit or down payment can lead to large losses as well as gains. It also means that a relatively small movement can lead to a proportionately much larger movement in the value of your investment, and this can work against you as well as for you. Some FX transactions involve a contingent liability which means that you may be liable for margin to maintain your position and a loss may be sustained well in excess of the premium received.
- 9.4 You may sustain a total loss of any margin you deposit with us to establish or maintain a position. If the market moves against you, you may be called upon to pay substantial additional margin at short notice to maintain your position. If you fail to do so within the time required, your position may be liquidated at a loss and you will be responsible for the resulting deficit.
- 9.5 The insolvency or default of the counterparty or any of the dealers involved with your FX transaction may lead to positions being liquidated or closed out without your consent. In certain circumstances, you may not get back the actual assets which you lodged as collateral and you may have to accept any available payments in cash.
- 9.6 If you buy or sell currency with us, we will execute these transactions at spot (that is, the price available in the market at that time) or same day value unless we agree otherwise.
- 9.7 Spot transactions will normally be ready for settlement on the second Business Day after dealing.
10. NON-READILY REALISABLE INVESTMENTS
- 10.1 We may advise upon or enter into transactions in non-readily realisable investments.
- 10.2 There is a restricted market for such investments and it may therefore be difficult to deal in such investments or to obtain reliable information about their value. It can be difficult to assess what would be a proper market price for them.
- 10.3 You may have difficulty selling such investments at a reasonable price and, in some circumstances, it may be difficult to sell them at any price.
- 10.4 You must not invest in them unless you have carefully thought about whether you can afford them and whether they are right for you.
11. STABILISATION
- 11.1 We or our representatives may, from time to time, recommend transactions in securities to you, or carry out such transactions on your behalf, where the price may have been influenced by measures taken to stabilise it.
- 11.2 You should read the explanation below carefully. This is designed to help you judge whether you wish your funds to be invested at all in such securities and, if you do, whether you wish:
- 11.2.1 to be consulted before we carry out any such transaction on your behalf; or
- 11.2.2 to authorise us to carry out any such transaction on your behalf without first having to consult you.
- 11.3 What is stabilisation?
- 11.3.1 Stabilisation enables the market price of a security to be maintained artificially during the period when a new issue of securities is sold to the public. Stabilisation may affect not only the price of the new issue but also the price of other securities relating to it. In certain circumstances stabilisation is permitted in order to help counter the fact that, when a new issue comes onto the market for the first time, the price can sometimes drop for a time before buyers are found.
- 11.3.2 Where stabilisation is permitted, stabilisation is being carried out by a "stabilisation manager" (normally the firm chiefly responsible for bringing a new issue to market). As long as the stabilising manager follows a strict set of rules, they are entitled to buy back securities that were previously sold to investors or allotted to institutions which have decided not to keep them. The effect of this may be to keep the price at a higher level than it would otherwise be during the period of stabilisation.

11.4 The stabilisation rules:

- 11.4.1 limit the period when a stabilising manager may stabilise a new issue;
- 11.4.2 fix the price at which they may stabilise (in the case of shares and warrants but not bonds); and
- 11.4.3 require them to disclose that they may be stabilising but not that they are actually doing so.
- 11.5 The fact that a new issue or a related security is being stabilised should not be taken as any indication of the level of interest from investors, nor of the price at which they are prepared to buy the securities.

12. EMERGING MARKETS/COUNTRY RISK

- 12.1 The term "emerging markets" refers to financial markets of countries whose political, social and economic infrastructure is in the process of change and development.
- 12.2 Political, monetary, fiscal and economic conditions may be subject to rapid and unpredictable change, which may give rise to much greater volatility of exchange rates, interest rates and securities values than is typical of developed economies.
- 12.3 Sovereign (country) risk conditions may arise where, through lack of foreign currency held by the central bank or because of political, economic or other events, exchange controls could be imposed which may prevent the conversion of emerging market currencies into freely convertible currencies. Market quotations may not be readily available and in some circumstances could be unobtainable.
- 12.4 The relatively high interest rates typical of emerging markets' currencies may appear to present attractive investment opportunities. However, high interest rates may be indicative of an inflationary economy, a weakening exchange rate and political and economic uncertainty.

SECTION THREE: Summary of Best Execution Policy

PART 1: Scope and purpose

What is best execution and the purpose of the Best Execution Policy?

When we execute orders in financial instruments on behalf of clients or receive and transmit orders in financial instruments, we have a general duty to act in accordance with the best interests of our clients. In addition, as a specific application of that general duty, we are required to take all sufficient steps to obtain the best possible result for our clients (which we refer to as "best execution").

Our obligation to achieve best execution does not mean that we must obtain the best possible results for our clients on every single occasion. Rather, it requires us:

- to verify on an ongoing basis that our execution arrangements work well throughout the different stages of the order execution process; and
- to take all appropriate remedial actions if any deficiencies are detected.

We have developed internal processes and procedures and an order execution policy (the "Best Execution Policy" or "Policy") to allow us to act in accordance with our clients' best interests and obtain the best possible result for them when executing or receiving and transmitting their orders in financial instruments.

We recognise the importance of acting in accordance with your best interests and taking all sufficient steps to obtain the best possible result when executing orders for you. This is important for maintaining and developing our relationship with you. We strive at all times to act fairly and reasonably in dealing with you.

This section summarises the Policy.

When does the Best Execution Policy apply?

The Policy applies where we are executing orders in financial instruments on your behalf or receiving and transmitting your orders in financial instruments.

The Policy will not apply when we are not executing an order on your behalf, for example, where we are following your specific instructions to execute your order in a particular manner or at a particular price. In such a scenario, the Policy will not apply to the extent that we accept the order and follow your instructions when executing the order or a specific part of the order. Similarly, the Policy will not apply to the extent that we accept an order from you and follow your specific instructions when placing the order with, or transmitting the order to, another entity for execution. See Part 3 below.

This Policy will apply to all transactions in financial instruments that we arrange on your behalf, whether arranged or executed through our affiliates or otherwise.

PART 2: Achieving best execution

What factors do we take into account to achieve best execution?

In seeking to achieve best execution, we take into account a number of factors. These include:

- price;
- costs;
- speed;
- likelihood of execution and settlement;
- size;
- nature;
- market impact;
- any other implicit transaction costs; and
- any other consideration relevant to the execution of the order.

In relation to over-the-counter (“OTC”) products, we check the fairness of the price proposed to you by gathering market data used in the estimation of the price of such product and, where possible, by comparing with similar or comparable products.

What is the role of price?

Generally, as you are a retail client, the best possible result will be determined by the total consideration paid by you, i.e. the price of the investment and all the costs related to the execution (including execution venue fees, clearing and settlement fees and any other fees paid to third parties involved in the execution of the order).

However, we recognise that there may from time to time be circumstances for some clients, particular instruments or markets where other factors should have a higher priority because they are instrumental in delivering the best possible results in terms of total consideration. In such cases the relative importance of each of the factors listed above will differ depending on:

- the characteristics of your order;
- the characteristics of the financial instruments to which your order relates; and
- the characteristics of the venues to which your order can be directed (if there is more than one).

PART 3: Compliance with client instructions

What happens if you give us specific instructions in relation to the execution of your order?

Where you provide specific instructions in relation to the execution of your order and we accept that order, we will follow those instructions.

We will satisfy our best execution obligations to you where we accept and follow your specific instructions when executing or arranging for the execution of an order or a specific aspect of an order, although the Policy may apply to other aspects of the order to the extent that they are not covered by your instructions. For example, we will satisfy our best execution obligations in the following instances:

- where you instruct us to execute an order for you at a particular price, we will not be responsible for choosing the best price for the transaction;
- where you instruct us to execute your order on a particular venue, we will not be responsible for selecting the venue; and
- where you instruct us to execute your order at a particular time or over a particular period, regardless of the price available, we will execute your order at that time or over that period in the best possible manner, but will not be responsible for the timing or any of the consequences for price or other factors that results from the timing of execution.

Any specific instructions you give to us in relation to orders may prevent us from taking the steps that we have designed and implemented as part of our Policy to obtain the best possible result for the execution of those orders in respect of the elements covered by those instructions.

PART 4: Choosing an execution broker or execution venues

We will generally pass an order on to another Citigroup entity or a third party (an “execution broker”) for them to execute, as opposed to us executing your order ourselves.

Where we pass your order to an execution broker based outside the European Economic Area, they may not be subject to best execution (or equivalent) requirements. We may nevertheless pass your order to them unless either (i) the circumstances require otherwise or (ii) you explicitly instruct us otherwise and we are able to follow your instructions to use an alternative execution broker. If we are not able to follow your instructions, we may not be able to accept your order.

What factors are taken into account when determining which execution brokers we place orders with?

Factors that we consider in selecting the execution brokers with which we place your orders include:

- their creditworthiness;
- their market expertise;
- the breadth of their market coverage;
- the execution venues they use;
- their relevance to our clients;
- their speed;
- the cost of their services;
- their execution arrangements and the quality of their execution;
- the regulatory framework they are subject to; and
- other qualitative factors (for example, quality of service) as may be relevant.

What factors are taken into account when determining the execution venue?

Factors that we consider when selecting an execution venue (in the limited circumstances where we may execute your order ourselves) or considering the execution venues used by an execution broker include:

- the general prices available;
- the depth of liquidity;
- the relative volatility in the market;
- the speed of execution;
- the cost of execution;
- the reliability and continuity of trading;
- the creditworthiness of the counterparties on the venue or the central counterparty; and
- the quality and cost of clearing and settlement.

How might factors vary between choices of execution broker or venue?

In some markets, price volatility may mean that timeliness of execution is a priority. In other markets that have low liquidity, the fact of execution may itself constitute best execution.

In other cases, our choice may be limited because of the nature of your order or your requirements. For example, when Investment Products are more illiquid, there may be little (or no) choice.

How often do we review our execution brokers and venues?

We will review and assess, on a regular basis, whether the execution brokers and venues included in the Policy provide the best possible results for our clients or whether we need to make changes.

How do we monitor our existing arrangements to ensure best execution?

Citi monitors the quality and appropriateness of our order execution arrangements (including pricing and the application of the execution factors) in order to detect potential deficiencies and circumstances where changes may be appropriate.

In the case of transmission of client orders, this includes monitoring the passing of such orders and monitoring the quality of execution provided by the execution broker. For example, we have in place a process to compare the price achieved for a transaction with the price available in the market for the financial instrument at the time of execution. We seek to monitor inconsistencies in order to ensure the quality and appropriateness of execution arrangements. Where appropriate we will seek to raise queries with execution brokers as to discrepancies between the executed and market prices. We also have regard to:

- prices offered for the particular type of instrument over time;
- average costs per trade charged for the type of trade over time; and
- the Best Execution Policy of, and any best execution data, information or any other guidance provided by, the relevant execution broker from time to time.

We take a similar approach with regard to execution venues.

In the case of OTC products, we regularly monitor the fairness of the pricing by gathering market data and comparing the financial instrument with comparable products.

Where we have a choice of execution brokers or venues, how do we choose?

We will take into account factors such as the costs and benefits of accessing multiple execution brokers or venues and accessibility in deciding which execution broker or venues we include in our Policy.

If we have access to more than one execution broker or venue in our Policy for an order in a particular financial instrument, we will endeavour to choose the best execution broker or venue for the order, taking into account the factors applicable to determining execution brokers or venues and achieving best execution listed above.

Where can I find information on the top five execution brokers and venues used?

We will summarise and make public, on an annual basis, for each class of financial instruments, the top five investment firms in terms of trading volumes where we transmitted or placed client orders for execution in the preceding year and information on the quality of execution obtained. Where we have executed orders, we will also publish, for each class of financial instruments, the top five execution venues in terms of trading volumes where we executed client orders and information on the quality of execution obtained.

This data will be available on our website and in other formats from your Relationship Manager.

Where available, we will also provide a link to the most recent execution quality data published in accordance with Applicable Law for each execution broker and venue listed in our Best Execution Policy.

What execution brokers and / or venues do we use for particular investments?

We have set out below the execution brokers and / or venues we place significant reliance on in meeting our obligation to take all sufficient steps to obtain on a consistent basis the best possible result for the execution of your orders.

It is important to note that when placing orders in respect of equities, American Depository Receipts (“ADRs”), Global Depository Receipts (“GDRs”) and Exchange Traded Funds (“ETFs”) you will be required to select an execution venue from a list of execution venues used by the execution broker to whom we pass your order. The execution venues on this list are ones that we have pre-selected from the execution broker's venue offering.

- Collective Investment Schemes

When we deal in collective investment schemes we will deal directly with the fund manager or their transfer agent.

- Equities, American Depository Receipts (“ADRs”), Global Depository Receipts (“GDRs”) and Exchange Traded Funds (“ETFs”)

Upon receiving your order, Citi will transmit your order to our execution broker. We will use UBS AG, acting through its business group UBS Investment Bank in Switzerland (“UBS”) as our execution broker in relation to equities, ADRs, GDRs and ETFs. When you place an order with us, we will ask you to confirm which execution venue you would like UBS to be directed to execute your order on. The possible execution venues are set out in the annex to this document. Please note that while the fees we charge you will not vary on the basis of the execution venue you select, the fees that UBS charges may vary depending on the execution venue selected. Fees of execution venues may also vary. Further information is available from your Relationship Manager.

Please also see Part 3 above – the choice of execution venue will be a specific instruction.

- Gifts and Bonds

Upon receiving your order, Citi will transmit your order to our execution broker, UBS. UBS will then seek to execute your order on the appropriate execution venue. You will not be required to select an execution venue unless you wish to do so (in which case, this Policy may not apply to you – see Part 3 above).

- Structured Products

When we arrange for you to invest in a structured product, we will instruct our affiliate Citigroup Global Markets Limited (“CGML”) to deal directly with the relevant product issuer. In the event that you seek early redemption of the structured product, we will instruct CGML to contact the issuer of the product and obtain a price for the product.

PART 5: Location of execution

In certain circumstances, the laws and rules we are subject to may specify where an order can be executed (“trading obligations”). Trading obligations may apply, irrespective of whether their application is consistent with our best execution obligations.

The Policy provides for the possibility that client orders may be executed outside of a Trading Venue (subject to compliance with any applicable trading obligations or other applicable laws and rules). A Trading Venue is a regulated market, multilateral trading facility or an organised trading facility (in other words, broadly, venues where multiple third-party buying and selling trading interests interact). Where we have received, or subsequently receive, express consent from you to do so (which may be given as a standing consent) your orders may be executed outside a Trading Venue (for example, OTC execution).

The execution of orders outside a Trading Venue may involve consequences which differ from execution on a Trading Venue. For example, the transaction will not be subject to any rules of the Trading Venue intended to provide for fair and orderly trading. Additionally, there may be increased settlement risk as the transaction will not be covered by the settlement rules of the Trading Venue and there may be differing exposure to counterparty risk. Additional information about the consequences of this means of execution is available on request.

PART 6: Client Limit Orders

A Limit Order means an order to buy or sell a financial instrument at its specified price limit or better and for a specified size.

Where Citi has accepted a Limit Order in respect of shares that have been admitted to trading on a regulated market or traded on a Trading Venue (as defined in Part 5 above), which is not immediately executed under prevailing market conditions, unless you expressly instruct otherwise, that Limit Order may be required to be made public immediately in a manner which is easily accessible to other market participants.

However, where we have received, or subsequently receive, such an instruction from you (which may be given as a standing instruction), we shall not be obliged to publish a Limit Order immediately if it cannot be immediately executed under prevailing market conditions (unless instructed otherwise by you in writing in respect of a particular Limit Order and we accept that Limit Order).

PART 7: Reviewing the Policy

How often will we update the Policy?

We will review the Policy and our order execution arrangements annually and whenever a material change occurs that affects our ability to obtain the best possible results for our clients. We shall monitor the effectiveness of the Policy and assess the execution brokers and venues in the Policy on a regular basis and correct any identified deficiencies.

We shall also seek to ensure that the design and review process of our internal processes and procedures and Policy is appropriate and takes into account new services or products offered by Citi.

We will notify you of any material changes to our order execution arrangements or the Policy.

PART 8: Consenting to the Policy

We are required to obtain your prior consent to the Policy and you will be deemed to consent to it when you place an order with us.

PART 9: Contact details

How do you contact us in connection with this Policy?

If you have any queries about the Policy or our compliance with the Policy, please contact your Relationship Manager.

SECTION FOUR: Summary of Conflicts of Interest Policy

PART 1: Background

Citi provides and is engaged in a wide range of financial services, including investment management, private banking, financing, securities trading, corporate and investment banking and research. In compliance with our statutory obligations this document describes the Conflicts of Interest Policy maintained by Citi in respect of regulated activities carried out within the UK or the EEA.

Citi is committed to maintaining the highest professional standards and principles in providing services to its clients. The interests of clients must always come first, and Citi's policies and procedures, which address and manage conflicts of interest as may arise, are intended to ensure that those interests are well served.

To this end, Citi has policies and procedures in place to identify, prevent, consider and manage potential conflicts of interest and protect the integrity of its relationships with retail, professional and eligible counterparty clients. All Citi employees must comply with Citi's policies and procedures and they may not do indirectly anything that they are prohibited from doing directly under these policies and procedures.

Detailed internal policy documents and operating procedures may not be fully represented in the description that appears below.

For the purposes of ascertaining whether there is a conflict of interest, references to Citi employees include references to other persons linked to us and our clients, and appointed representatives of Citi.

PART 2: Identification of conflicts

Citi seeks to ensure it is able to appropriately and effectively identify and prevent or manage potential conflicts of interest between us (including our managers, employees or any person directly or indirectly linked to us) and our clients, and between our clients, that arise in the course of providing our services and whose existence may damage the interests of a client. It may manage potential conflicts through avoidance, establishing information barriers (Chinese walls) or acting with an appropriate level of independence. Where the arrangements under our Conflicts of Interest Policy to prevent or manage a particular conflict to affected clients are not sufficient to ensure with reasonable confidence that the risk of damage to a client's interests will be prevented, we will provide the client with a specific description of the conflicts of interest and explain the general nature and/or sources of the conflicts of interest, as well as the risks that arise as a result of the conflicts of interest and the steps taken to mitigate those risks. The specific description will be in sufficient detail to enable the client to make an informed decision as to whether to proceed.

In determining whether there is or may be a conflict of interest whose existence may damage the interests of a client, Citi take into account, amongst other things, whether Citi or Citi personnel:

- is likely to make a financial gain, or avoid a financial loss, at the expense of the client;
- has an interest in the outcome of a service provided to the client or of a transaction carried out on behalf of the client, which is distinct from the client's interest in that outcome;
- has a financial or other incentive to favour the interest of another client or group of clients over the interests of the client;
- carries on the same business as the client; or
- receives or will receive from a person other than the client, an inducement in relation to a service provided to the client in the form of monetary or non-monetary benefits.

Citi has identified that potential conflicts of interest between Citi and clients arise in the following general categories:

- Conflicts relating to treating clients fairly; for example, when selling products, Citi may receive inducements from product providers where such inducements are permitted under Applicable Law, including:
 - (a) turnover-related sales follow-up commissions, paid to us by fund companies from the management fees they receive;
 - (b) sales commissions paid by security issuers in the form of placement commissions;
 - (c) corresponding markdowns on the issue price (discount/rebate) and sales follow-up commissions;

(d) up-front fees paid to Citi, insofar as we levy these when selling investment units or other securities; and

(e) non-monetary inducements.

- Citi may also provide success-related commissions and fixed remunerations to contractually independent tied agents who lead us to clients or transactions with or without reference to a specific transaction where permitted under Applicable Law.
- Conflicts relating to competing with clients; for example, Citi may seek to make investments for its own account in securities in which our clients are also seeking to invest.
- Multiple involvement; for example, Citi may act as trustee to investors on a debt security and also act as a lender to the security issuer such that it may create a conflict of interest between Citi's obligations as trustee and Citi's proprietary interests.
- Conflicts relating to use of material non-public information or use of private information; for example, Citi may sell securities to clients at a time when it has access to private information regarding the debtor in connection with its lending or advisory business.
- Conflicts relating to manufacturing of products; for example, Citi may develop a product that enables Citi to sell its own exposure in an entity to its clients.
- Conflicts between clients or groups of clients; for example, Citi may provide advisory services to a client on a transaction and at the same time provide financing to another client on the same transaction where the two clients have separate and/or competing interests.
- Conflicts between Citi employees and the interests of Citi or the interests of clients; for example, a Citi employee may have a personal investment in an issuer of securities and also provide investment recommendations to clients on that same issuer of securities.

PART 3: Management of conflicts

Although not an exhaustive list, the primary methods that may be used by Citi to manage actual or potential conflicts of interest include:

- Citi, under the direct responsibility of the management board, operates an independent Compliance Department, with a remit to monitor the identification, prevention, avoidance and the management of conflicts of interest;
- procedures and systems to identify specific situations where there are competing or adverse interests;
- procedures to prevent or control the exchange of information between Citi personnel engaged in activities involving a risk of conflict of interest where the exchange of that information may harm the interests of one or more clients;
- trade surveillance and restriction systems including insider, and restricted (or freeze) lists to monitor the flow of inside information within the firm and prohibit employees from misusing such information for the firm's or their own account and to the detriment of clients;
- oversight and approval by product committees, independent from the directly involved Citi representatives, covering (among other matters) transaction and product pricing, placing, and structure;
- structural separation. Such separation may be physical or otherwise, including but not limited to information barriers, compensation arrangements and or management and supervisory structures;
- oversight of contacts between and within businesses whose clients have adverse or competing interests with the clients of other business units;
- separate supervision of Citi personnel whose principal functions involve carrying out activities on behalf of, or providing services to, clients whose interests may conflict, or who otherwise represent different interests that may conflict, including those of Citi;

- removal of any direct link between the remuneration of Citi personnel principally engaged in one activity and the remuneration of, or revenues generated by, different Citi personnel principally engaged in another activity, where a conflict of interest may arise in relation to those activities;
- measures to prevent or limit any person from exercising inappropriate influence over the way in which Citi personnel carry out investment or ancillary services or activities;
- measures to prevent or control the simultaneous or sequential involvement of Citi personnel in separate investment or ancillary services or activities where such involvement may impair the proper management of conflicts of interest;
- policies and procedures ensuring fair and/or equal treatment of clients or classes of clients;
- regulation of personal investment and business activities of Citi employees by Compliance Department to prevent conflicts of interest arising against the interests of clients;
- training of employees;
- rules governing the acceptance and granting of inducements, including disclosure of such arrangements to clients;
- the general or specific disclosure of conflicts of interest to clients where necessary, including, but not limited to, instances where it is not considered possible to have sufficient arrangements to avoid or wholly manage a conflict of interest; and
- declining to act where we believe there is no other practicable way of ensuring that you and our other clients are treated fairly. We may also establish organisational walls to restrict the movement of information within Citigroup Organisations.

If you so request, we will be pleased to provide further details on the principles outlined above.
